OPENS NEGOTIATIONS WITH DOMINION FOR CHANGE IN TREATY

President Roosevelt Expects U.S. Senate to Ratify Seaway Pact—Says Chicago Will Get No More Water by Diversion of Lake Michigan Regardless of Outcome

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP).—St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty ratification appeared high on the administration's legislative agenda today as President Roosevelt revealed that negotiations already had been opened with Canada looking toward slight changes in the pact.

The President also made it plain that, regardless of the treaty's fate, Chicago, in his opinion, would get no more water by diversion from Lake Michigan.

RATIFICATION EXPECTED

With the added strength gathered in Tuesday's elections, there appeared little doubt the treaty would go through as Mr. Roosevelt desires. Senate ratification of the agreement, which would provide for the building by Canada and the United States of a seaway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic, was beaten last term by a 46 to 42 vote. A two-thirds vote is necessary for ratification.

Illinois senators were among those opposing the treaty and some of their opposition was based on assertions that ratification would result in Canada's sharing the control of diversion from the lake.

MINOR MODIFICATIONS

Mr. Roosevelt said today that when Under-Secretary William Phillips was in Ottawa last week he informed Prime Minister R. B. Bennett that the United States Government would like to see the possibility of minor modifications. The Dominion Government, he added, has taken the proposals under advisement.

The treaty would limit Chicago's diversion to 1,500 cubic feet of water.

GRAIN WILL BE GRADED AGAIN

Two More Arrested in Wheat Strike When Elderly Woman Attacked

EDMONTON, Nov. 9 (CP).—All grain now held in the eight elevators at Mundare, Alta., will be graded again to see if there is a basis for claims by farmer grain strikers that grading has been too low. Chairman E. B. Ramsey, of the Board of Grain Commissioners, said here tonight. The chairman had just returned from Mundare, and announced that the board will return to Mundare "at an early date," to take evidence.

TWO MORE ARRESTS

Meanwhile two more arrests of picketers were made today by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, when an elderly woman, bringing a load of wheat to Mundare, was surrounded by picketers. "It was a sad spectacle to see a farm woman, bringing in a grist of a few sacks of grain, being attacked," Mr. Ramsey said. "And when men grabbed her horses, police had to club them off and make further arrests."

Chairman Ramsey said that in a meeting with the strikers today, the latter emphasized their demands for immediate installation of cleaners.

UNUSED FOR YEARS

"My suggestion that means might be found to get municipal cleaners, was not considered," he said. "They want cleaners in all eight elevators at the expense of others, although one house had one which has gone unused for seventeen years." "Personally," he added, "I got a very unfavorable view of their complaints. I was not at all impressed."

"There was nothing striking presented in the regrading charges beyond the usual generalities. Many of the complaints voiced by members of the committee (representing the strikers) were of a hearsay nature. We requested them to prepare evidence in support of any claims."

Ecuadoran Mob Halts Legislators

QUITO, Ecuador, Nov. 9 (AP).—Three members of Ecuador's Cabinet had resigned tonight, and the withdrawal of a fourth was reported to be impending, as a result of disorders, in which shouting crowds invaded the halls of Congress and forced the legislators to adjourn.

The unruly gangs which charged into the legislative chamber shouted encouragement to President Jose M. Velasco Ibarra, but were hostile to the legislators.

Crowds Gather as Government Changes

Thousands of persons gathered daily in front of the Chamber of Deputies, in Paris, as the national "truce" Cabinet of Gaston Doumergue fought unsuccessfully to bring in changes in the constitution. Inset is Premier Doumergue, who has been succeeded by Pierre Flandin and another "truce" government.

Neville Chamberlain Nearly Gives His Old-Age Pension Away

CAMBRIDGE, England, Nov. 9 (CP).—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, tonight, poked fun at disarmament, and recently published his memoirs.

"If I were to follow some recent examples," he told the Cambridge University Conservative Association at a dinner, "I might give you a very spicy evening by reading some private conversations of my colleagues or I might have brought documentary evidence to show that all the successes of the National Government have been achieved by the Chancellor of the Exchequer and all its mistakes were due to the folly, vanity and pride of his colleagues."

"When I remember these things are worth money if they are expressed in a book, I think I had better keep them in reserve for my old age."

Commission Reports Secret Activity of Germany in the Saar

Charges Organized Campaign Being Carried on With Sanction of Government—Ten Thousand Secret Police Said to Be Terrorizing Voters

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP).—The League of Nations Council, to meet on November 20 to consider the vexing question of the Saar, is expected to take up a new report of the Saar Governing Commission, which charged that the German front is intimidating inhabitants of the valley to vote for annexation to Germany.

The report, a twenty-four-page document, maintained that the German front was carrying on an organized campaign with the sanction of the German Government.

REGARDED AS DUTY

"The commission feels it would not be fulfilling its duty if, at a moment so full of responsibility, it refrained from giving the council a faithful report of certain disturbing aspects of activities of the German front, many of which are illegal," the commission said.

The report revealed that a native Saar member of the commission refused to subscribe to the catalogue of charges because "he saw no real danger in the programme of the German front. This member also added that he believed the activities were being carried on."

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 9 (AP).—Three gunmen robbed the De Lay National Bank here of $21,000 this morning and escaped. They held four persons captive most of the night, lined up seven bank employees, as they waited for a time lock to open the vault, and slugged a bank official.

Hon. Clarence D. Martin Revives Negotiations for International Pact to Embrace All Species of Salmon—Three Previous Agreements Refused Ratification by United States Senate

Monday Holiday To Children in Public Schools

UPWARDS of 120,000 school children in public schools of the province will enjoy a holiday on Monday, in commemoration of Remembrance Day, which occurs this year on Sunday. Officials of the British Columbia department of education yesterday said that November 12 would be observed as a school holiday, in consequence. Official observance of the two-minute period of silence will commence at 11 a.m. Sunday, by royal proclamation.

Hon. G. M. Pearson to Act for B.C. at Olympia Discussions

BRITISH Columbia and Washington will open sockeye salmon discussions, informally, when Hon. George S. Pearson meets Governor Martin at Olympia next week. Premier Pattullo was originally invited by Governor Martin, but will not be able to attend himself. Mr. Pearson, as Commissioner of Fisheries for the Province, will leave here for Olympia next week, when final arrangements for the parley are completed. Washington State's decision to abolish salmon traps, in the recent referendum, has placed a new light on the whole question, British Columbia officials intimated yesterday.

MANY FIRMS FACE COURT

Scores of Short-Weight Charges Against Toronto Stores Being Heard

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP).—A special court, under Magistrate A. L. Tinker, today started hearing charges against 117 Toronto chain, department and grocery stores of short weights of perishable commodities or using scales that militate against customers. It was estimated that the hearings will take almost one month.

The numerous counts were laid as follows: Thirty-four against Dominion Stores; thirty-eight against Stop & Shop Limited; thirty-two against the A. & P. Stores; ten against independents, and three against the Robert Simpson Company. All three charges against the Robert Simpson Company alleged use of scales which over-estimated weight.

FINES COLLECTED

A total of $90 in fines was collected at today's hearing from independent firms pleading or found guilty of selling short weights or using inaccurate scales. Caledonia Farms, Limited, paid $25 in fines and $25 for selling a pound of lard two ounces underweight and for using scales which registered one-half ounce heavy. Joe Cina was fined a total of $21 for using false scales. Nathan Swartz, of the Victoria Park Cut-Rate Meat Market, was fined $25 for selling meat which was two ounces short of the required amount.

AUTHORIZED BY STEVENS

Action against the accused firms was launched by Sutherland Cuddy, inspector of weights and measures, following authorization by Hon. H. H. Stevens, former chairman of the parliamentary mass buying committee and Minister of Trade and Commerce.

A reform designed to tear out the roots of parliamentary government, the long-prepared state, in which industry, commerce, business and the professions are to make their own laws, will be formally set up by Il Duce himself.

Tonight he and his formidable propaganda machine were advertising it to the world as something new in modern-day government, something soon to be copied by other states.

PREMIER PATTULLO

Declares Changes Due in B.N.A. Act

Government Leader Says British Columbia Does Not Propose to Continue in Bondage Under Unequal Terms of Federal Partnership

"CHANGE there must be, in the B.N.A. Act, because this Province does not propose to continue under the bondage to which it has been subjected ever since Confederation," Premier Pattullo declared last evening in the course of a public address broadcast from his office in the Legislative Buildings. The Premier spoke for half an hour, largely in defence of his ministry, and in explanation of the need for patience in the settlement of problems for which no immediate solution appeared.

THE STEADYING INFLUENCE OF THE

Canadian people was uppermost in times of stress, the Premier observed. British Columbia had set the precedent for Canada on social services, and in recognition of the duty of the State to its people. There was also to be remembered the responsibility of the people to the State.

Important problems remained to be solved. It was in the interest of both the Dominion and the Provinces that vital questions of an interlocking nature, as to the jurisdiction of Parliament, should be redefined and stated anew. This could be done without friction. Delay in Dominion-Provincial discussion on these issues was to be regretted.

B.N.A. ACT

Consideration of amendments to the British North America Act was overdue. As a first step the right should be given Canada to amend its own constitution, by agreement between the Provinces and the Dominion.

Leg Broken in Thirty-Foot Drop When Ladder Falls During Inspection

NELSON, Nov. 9 (CP).—Paul Lincoln, president and managing director of Noble Five Mines, Ltd., at Cody, near here, broke his right leg when he fell thirty feet down a manway at the mine today. He was not injured otherwise, beyond being shaken up.

Lincoln was inspecting the mine workings when a section of ladder which he was descending, broke. He was taken to hospital at Sandon and later to New Denver.

The inspection work was started as preliminary to resumption of the mine's operation as soon as conditions justify.

CONVICTS GIVEN ANOTHER START

Ten Escaped Men Helped by Gift of Boat and Supplies

ARUBA, D.W.I., Nov. 9 (AP).—Ten escaped Devil's Island convicts sailed a donated boat over the northern coast of South America tonight in their long flight to freedom.

Members of the American and English colonies contributed toward the purchase of the twenty-five-foot craft in which the men set out at dawn from this port near where the Gulf of Venezuela meets the Caribbean.

The boat was equipped with an auxiliary gasoline motor, enough gasoline for a 400-mile run, a month's provisions, tobacco and money.

TWO MONTHS' FLIGHT

The convicts, headed by Jean Duverney, fled the penal colony more than two months ago in a canoe bought by their leader. They had to swim in shark-infested waters to reach the sixteen-foot craft. For thirty-two days they traveled under a blazing tropical sun. The water was exhausted after twenty-seven days. Then along came an English freighter, which gave them supplies. The men pushed on to Trinidad, where they rested for thirty days, and set out again.

For twelve days they were tossed upon heavy seas, and finally their boat was crushed on a coral reef at Curacao. They were given another boat and set out again. They barely reached San Nicolas Bay, at Aruba, and when they started again with their repaired vessel it sank. A Dutch craft rescued them and returned them to land. Then the Americans and English helped them on their fresh start.

SUPREME MOVE MADE FOR PEACE

Negotiators for League of Nations Trying to Pacify Paraguay and Bolivia

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP).—League of Nations negotiators made a supreme move today to induce Paraguay and Bolivia to lay down their arms and halt the hostilities in the Chaco.

Five nations of the Americas—Argentina, Peru, Chile, Venezuela and Mexico—under the presidency of Francisco Najera, of Mexico, addressed cablegrams to the belligerent nations urging them to cease hostilities.

The messages emphasized that the two nations already are seemingly in agreement that the cessation of war must be accompanied by international guarantees that hostilities will not be renewed.

Says Golden Age Of Advertising Lies Just Ahead

Boston Merchant Says New Era Will Come as Soon as What Was Known in 1928 and 1929 Is Forgotten—Must Become Voice of Customer to Give Best Results

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9 (AP).—Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant and economist, told a board meeting of the District Advertising Federation of America, today, that the Golden Age of advertising lies ahead.

"The late nineteen twenties were not the golden age of advertising," he said. "That was the age of brass. The golden age is just ahead of us."

"Advertising will improve from now on, both in quality and in quantity, and as it improves in quantity it will improve in quality. How rapid this progress will be, however, will depend largely upon how rapidly we can forget what we knew in 1928 and 1929."

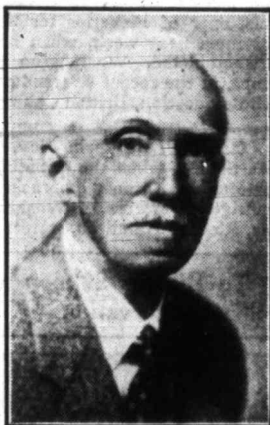

TECHNIQUE HAS CHANGED
The Boston merchant said the advertising technique of 1928 and 1929 is now of relatively little use to us; for an important part of the advertising of those days was not designed to increase the total volume of distribution.

"An important part of that advertising, for instance, was the advertising of goods and services, but of alluring offerings in stocks and bonds. Stocks and bonds, to be sure, have to be advertised, and I do not mean to criticize their being advertised," said Filene.

INVESTED UNWISLY
"The fact remains, that the large scale advertising of stocks and bonds, in 1928 and 1929, resulted in the American masses investing billions of dollars in stocks and bonds at a time when they should have been purchasing goods and services instead."

"Had the masses bought goods instead of securities at that particular time, our industries could have continued to run and the masses could have kept their jobs. Since they bought securities instead of goods, however, the production and distribution of goods was necessarily reduced; which caused such unemployment and such a further reduction of the market for goods."

CANNOT TELL CAT'S VALUE

Much Discussed Tortoise-Shell Tom Long Gone to Feline Heaven

WATERSIDE, P.E.I., Nov. 9 (CP).—Rare tortoise-shell cat or ordinary tomcat—nobody will ever know now. For the cat—the one that A. P. McRae, of Charlottetown, Sask., hopes to enter in the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto—is dead. He's been dead so long that A. N. McRae, brother of the would-be exhibitor, can't remember when he died. All he recalls, he said today, is that it happened some time since A. P. McRae saw the cat about ten years ago on his farm here.

At that time the Western-brother said he believed the cat was a specimen of the tortoise-shell, valued, perhaps, at $1,000. But the brother here forgot about the matter for years, and Tom died without his status ever having been settled.

GROWS COMPLICATED

CHERRY VALLEY, P.E.I., Nov. 9 (CP).—The tomcat situation hereabouts grows a bit complicated. To begin with, Mrs. J. P. Irving doesn't possess the cat that her brother, A. P. McRae, of Charlottetown, Sask., thinks she does—and which he has entered as a rare mail tortoise-shell in Toronto's Royal Winter Fair.

That cat may be alive or dead for all she knows, she told a reporter who traveled from Charlottetown to this village today. Her brother, she said, last saw it ten years ago; she hasn't seen it for a long time.

The tom that Mr. McRae believes to be a $1,000 tortoise-shell was reared by her mother, Mrs. Irving said, on the old homestead at Waterside, P.E.I., possibly it's there yet—Mrs. Irving can't say.

HAS ANOTHER TOMCAT

But she has another tomcat, much like the one Mr. McRae insists is a valuable rarity, and approaching in color the black, red and cream of the tortoise hybrid. Its fur is black, mixed with a brown and grey combination that blends into a light taupe.

Parallel stripes of this mixture run the length of the cat's back; its sides are marked irregularly, and the legs and tail are ringed. There is a white triangular patch beneath the cat's chin.

"Whether it's a tortoise-shell Mrs. Irving doesn't know. She has had the cat for a year, considering him just an ordinary domestic pet. She doesn't know his age, and the antecedents are a mystery to her."

IT MAY HAVE BEEN

Of one thing Mrs. Irving is certain. The cat at her home isn't the one her brother was planning to enter in the Toronto show. He has never seen it, she declared. As for the other one, she thinks it is possible it may be a tortoise-shell. She recalls that, when Mr. McRae saw it about ten years ago, he declared it was a rarity and valuable. Since then she has given the cat little thought.

Cat breeders claim tortoise-shell cats are always female, never male.

IS SEEKING SALMON CONSERVATION PACT

The programme calls for the creation of a six-member commission, three from each country, and two of whom shall be residents of this state. The members would serve without salary. The treaty would be known as the Pacific International Salmon Treaty.

The commission would be empowered only to conduct a thorough scientific investigation of all species of salmon found in the contiguous waters, and to report back its findings to the two Governments.

NO REGULATORY POWERS

The commission would not be vested with regulatory powers. Its findings would be used in considering what joint action could be taken to insure the rehabilitation and preservation of one of the Pacific Northwest's greatest resources, Hamilton explained.

In bringing the proposal to the attention of the Federal Government, the co-operation of Senator Homer Bone, Senator-elect Lewis Schwellenbach and Frank Bell, United States Commissioner of Fisheries, will be sought.

In a move to win the co-operation of British Columbia, Governor Martin will meet with officials of that Government, in Seattle, Tuesday, for an informal conference. A general conference will be held later.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

The Governor's programme is in line with a recommendation made in his inaugural message. At that time he urged that steps be taken to preserve and perpetuate the salmon resources of Washington and British Columbia. He also asserted a treaty would bring about a better understanding of mutual fisheries problems.

In a recent letter on the subject of a Pacific International Salmon Treaty and the creation of a commission, the Governor said:

"It is believed this procedure will eliminate the causes of controversy in all past treaties; that it should be acceptable to all branches of both the commercial and game fisheries; and that it will then be possible to work out the proper regulations that will give consideration to all concerned, large and small, including the individual fishermen."

"This is the procedure that proved so successful in the case of the international halibut treaty."

TWO-FOLD BLESSING

Such a treaty, the Governor said, will not only insure maintenance of the fisheries in the Puget Sound-Fraser River area, but will result in the development of the finest game fishery areas in the world in the Fraser River basin.

Four treaties were projected previously by the United States, all dealing with the sockeye. Each was ratified by the Canadian Government, but failed in the United States Senate because of objections of one faction or another to proposed regulations.

The adoption of Initiative 77, abolishing fish taxes, will have no bearing on the question of a treaty, Hamilton said.

It appeared unreasonable that the unanimous approval of all Provinces should remain necessary to change the constitution, as one Province could prevent any alteration. Protection for minority rights should be freely conceded.

"Change there must be, because this Province does not propose to continue under the bondage to which it has been subjected ever since Confederation. We have taken the power of our super resources has enabled us to make such headway as has taken place," the Premier declared.

FINANCES

After amendment to the constitution, the next important step was taxation. The financial position of the Provinces, including their municipalities, was interwoven with the financial problems of the Dominion itself. In Ontario, municipalities had defaulted in an amount in excess of $100,000,000. There must be a more logical and clearly defined allocation of the sources of revenue, the Premier continued.

"Refunding of outstanding issues is essential to insure lower interest rates. Money return should be in direct ratio to labor and commodity return, rather than as now in inverse ratio. The prevailing process has been that the more precarious the conditions, the higher are interest rates. To him who hath shall be given, but from him who hath not shall be taken away that which he hath," he said.

SUPPLY OF MONEY

"Provision should be made which will assure a supply of money to carry out necessary and essential public services. There is no occasion for a large number in Canada to be on relief, in view of essential works that could and should be carried out. Money which the Dominion Government is lending to this Province is not a matter of gift. Outside of Dominion participation in relief, such money is by way of loan and will be repaid," the Premier said.

Questions of jurisdiction arose in social problems. The Dominion paid three-quarters of old age pensions, but should control the whole scheme. Unemployment and social insurance were also Federal in scope. The Dominion could also deal directly with hours of work and conditions of labor, if it wished, though some argument had been advanced against this.

NATIONAL HEALTH

Public health was a national problem, in view of the immigration of people between Provinces; and British Columbia paid $700,000 per annum for hospital treatment of indigents less than three years in the Province. Health jurisdictions should be redefined. Overlapping in agricultural services remained to be adjusted. Co-ordination of research work was needed, likewise.

Unemployment was more than a transient phase. A national council should be appointed to study the problem. Grave demoralization had occurred under the present system of meeting it, and it was unthinkable that the present plan would be perpetuated. All these problems emphasized the need of new understandings and adjustments between the Dominion and the Provinces.

GENERAL ELECTION

"I believe that a general election should be held at the earliest possible date. With a new Government installed (at Ottawa), with a fresh mandate from the electorate we may at once tackle all these important issues. Until these questions are settled, we cannot determine permanent policy, nor make the progress which is both desirable and possible," the Premier declared. This year the Province was carrying on.

ECONOMIC STUDIES

Through the Economic Council the Government was studying possibility of increasing employment; the best and widest uses of British Columbia resources; and extension of opportunity in domestic and foreign markets. Study was also being made of the effect of tariffs on industry, together with a survey of exports and imports. Special study was made of the problem of unemployed youths, and on many other matters.

A reciprocal trade agreement between Canada and the United States would be of very great benefit to British Columbia, particularly on timber, minerals and fish, the Premier continued.

Summing up the work of the various departments in the year past, Premier Pattullo said, in conclusion, the Government was making sincere efforts to carry out its announced policies in a reasonable and honest way.

Railway service between large cities of France is being speeded up.

APPLE ANNIE PASSES AWAY

Was Broadway's Cinderella for a Day—Is Accidentally Asphyxiated

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP).—Apple Annie, Broadway's Cinderella for a day, lay in the morgue tonight with her husband, the victim of accidental asphyxiation, while police searched for relatives or friends who might save them from burial in Potter's Field.

Her real name was Helen McCarthy, and her husband was Thomas McCarthy, a shoe salesman before times got bad.

But she was "Apple Annie" to thousands of Broadwayites who saw her each night selling apples from a small green car beside the Hotel Astor. The people who live well and enjoy fine food were wont to pause at the little cart, on the way from a rich dinner at the Astor to some nearby theatre, and buy an apple from Annie, "just to keep the doctor away."

HER GREAT MOMENT

Annie's great moment came a year ago, when a Broadway press agent conceived a stunt for a motion picture called "Lady for a Day." The apple woman was plopped down in a fine car and driven off to a suite in the Waldorf-Astoria. She still had her basket of apples, and reluctantly checked them with a surprised doorman.

At the hotel, Annie was shown a selection of fine clothes from which to choose a costume for a luncheon that day at Sherry's. To the surprise of everyone, she refused advice on her choice of wardrobe, and herself chose an outfit with excellent and expensive taste—from lingerie to gloves.

Later it was learned she had years before been a lady's maid for wealthy families.

PLAYED PART WELL

So Annie, lady for a day, looked like a blue-blooded matron in her new finery, and at the luncheon was quite the most poised lady there, among a group of motion picture stars and other guests.

She enjoyed it hugely and talked a great deal about herself—of the sights she had seen abroad, how she met the Pope, and how she had danced with the pursuer of the ship. When the day was over, Apple Annie, like Cinderella, was back to her dingy quarters.

That her asphyxiation and her daily round of selling apples. Almost a week ago her body and that of her husband were found, dead of gas fumes in their one-room place, and today the police announced Annie's identity.

DISARMING EXAMPLE PROVED INEFFECTIVE

London's new Lord Mayor, Sir Stephen Killik.

The Marquess of Londonderry, Secretary of State for Air, who responded to the toast to the Imperial Forces, referred to the bilateral naval conversations currently proceeding in London between the United Kingdom, the United States and Japan. The importance of the results to be achieved at the forthcoming Naval Conference could hardly be exaggerated, he said.

It was Great Britain's earnest hope that an arrangement would be secured whereby competition and unnecessary expenditure on naval armaments would be avoided, he said.

GOVERNMENT'S AIM

The Government's endeavor was to reach an agreement which would leave Great Britain free to maintain her fleet at the minimum strength necessary to her own security and simultaneously would give equal satisfaction and a sense of security to all other powers concerned.

Ramsay MacDonald read his speech from manuscript, which he rarely does. His speech dealt at some length with both home and foreign affairs.

Discussing the international situation, he said the Government's foreign policy was inspired, as it always had been, by the practicability of a peace policy steadily and wisely pursued along common-sense lines. The Government had not wavered in its support of the League of Nations, he said.

WELCOMES ENTRY

The leader of the Government welcomed the entry of Soviet Russia into the League, and at the same time deplored the absence of Germany. He said the Government would not cease to impress upon the Germans that they were not doing themselves justice by remaining isolated.

Referring to the series of crises in the European situation during recent months, Mr. MacDonald emphasized Britain's efforts on the side of peace. He assured his audience these services would continue as long as the Government lasted. Mentioning the disappointment which was felt at the results of the Disarmament Conference, he said the Government would continue, not only to try to preserve what had been gained, but to secure agreements in ways that were still open, even if no formal conference was sitting.

He stressed the example the United Kingdom had set in the sphere of disarmament. If further agreements leading to disarmament put forward by Britain were required, he would be, in a way which would put the non-aggressive purpose of the nation beyond question.

the more pre-eminent duty of making war impossible in the future," said the Prime Minister. "We seek to strengthen the bonds which unite the Dominions with ourselves in common loyalty. The Government came into existence to meet a crisis. It remains to secure firmly the gains of the sacrifices of our people and to lay strong foundations upon which the fabric of a great, happy, respected and morally powerful world can be built up."

GOVERNMENT'S RECORD

Mr. MacDonald dwelt upon the Government's record in domestic affairs, too. He emphasized that the Government had reduced unemployment by nearly 1,000,000, but there was still much to be done. In this connection, he referred to the problem of the economically distressed areas, the solution of which was being worked out with a well-planned scheme. No Government deserved to live which left unchanged conditions "poisonous alike to body and soul."

"We therefore launched a campaign against slums, and are planning a supplementary programme against over-crowding," he said. The Government was going to carry this programme through, he announced.

Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon briefly proposed the toast to the diplomatic corps.

Province Launches Physical Training Scheme for Youths

Games and Calisthenics Under Qualified Instructors Will Be Encouraged at Victoria and Four Other Points to Start, Says Hon. Dr. Weir

PHYSICAL training classes, under provincial instructors, for unemployed youths, will start in Victoria and at four other centres of the province on December 1, Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir announced yesterday. Directed recreation, games, and calisthenics will be included in a plan to be tried initially at Coast centres, under the general direction of Instructor Eisenhart, of the Vancouver Parks Board. The scheme is to be enlarged, as time and funds permit.

"The object of the classes is to present opportunity for recreational and physical education to unemployed youths, and to preserve them from the degenerating influences of enforced idleness. We will give directed recreational education in folk games, boxing, wrestling, calisthenics and other ways to develop the morale and character of youth on a sound physical basis," Dr. Weir explained.

PAPER CLUE TO HIDING PLACE

Police Recover $4,000 of Money Paid in Urschel Kidnapping Case

MEDFORD, Ore., Nov. 9 (AP).—A tiny scrap of paper, clinging to a rafter in a woodshed, led officers to the hiding place of the $4,000 Urschel ransom money, recovered here Wednesday night.

The scheme is at present in preliminary stages of organization, with Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, North Vancouver and Nanaimo selected as the trial-ground for the plan, which may be later extended through co-operation with school and other civic authorities.

Dr. Weir wrote to the Vancouver Parks Board this week, asking for the services of Mr. Eisenhart, who is a graduate of Copenhagen and Paris universities and a qualified physical instructor. Other instructors will be added as required.

COLLEGE INSTRUCTORS

The plan is being launched in response to requests for provision of some means of organized recreation for young men in the Province, particularly those in enforced idleness through no fault of their own. Graduates of McGill University and of Margaret Eaton College, Toronto, will be added to the training staff on the Mainland. Organized displays of physical training classes may be held if the plan proves successful, Dr. Weir said.

The Minister of Education said detailed announcement of the plan would be made later. The courses were referred to by Premier Pattullo in his speech last evening over C.B.C. radio, regarding the proposal as Government policy.

PAID TO BOOST LIQUOR SALES

Representative of Scotch Distillery Gives Evidence at Toronto Inquiry

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP).—After two days of inquiry, the probe of Judge Duncan C. Ross, of St. Thomas, into activities of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, prior to and including January 1, 1934, tonight stood adjourned for two weeks. It will reconvene on Friday, November 16.

Announcement of the adjournment came at the end of the afternoon session. A. G. Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, commission counsel, informed the commissioner that additional subpoenas had been issued, but the men who were required to appear were absent hunting. Also, information from Scotland was required. Features in the day's evidence were: Revelation by George A. Grover, of Toronto, representing the Sterling Bonding Company, Scotch distillery, that he had hired W. G. Clydale, of Toronto, Conservative organizer, to boost sales of the company's product during his travels throughout the province; allegations of stolen documents, and testimony of Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines in successive Ontario Conservative Governments, regarding his activity in connection with listing of certain liquors by the board. Grover, revealing the name of the man whose identity he refused to disclose on Thursday, submitted a diary recording payment of $50 a month to the organizer. He said Clydale had been in his employ for about eight months. Another form of Grover's efforts to popularize the liquor was by gifts to various members of Ward Four Conservative Association, Toronto, of which he was president at one time. Evidence by Grover also revealed payment of money to the Ontario Conservative party during the election of 1929. A letter of his to the Sterling Company reported an expenditure of $500. He said the money was not a lump-sum campaign contribution.

Poppies to Be Sold in City Today

"Buy a Poppy." The annual poppy sale will be conducted in Victoria today. Taggers will be at vantage points throughout the business section from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. "No price for the smaller poppies has been set, although boutonnières and large poppies will cost twenty cents. It is hoped that all citizens will give generously when they purchase their poppies today. The proceeds of the poppy sale will go toward assisting disabled and indigent ex-servicemen and widows and families of fallen soldiers. Last year a substantial amount was raised for this purpose, and officials hope 1934 will eclipse results of previous campaigns. And so when Victorians are in town today, it is hoped they will not forget to "buy a poppy."

TREASURE NOT CHIEF INTEREST

Inventor's Main Concern is Success of Apparatus in Salvaging Ship

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP).—Simon Lake, on the eve of another effort to salvage the British frigate Hussar, tonight asserted he was more interested in a successful test of his oddly-shaped undersea salvager than in recovering the $4,800,000 gold reputedly aboard the British ship, sunk in the swirling waters of Hell Gate during the American War of Independence. Nearing the climax of his long career as a submarine builder and designer, Lake was openly doubtful of finding a treasure trove in the hull of the ship that has gripped the attention of salvagers ever since it was sunk in the East River in 1780. But, he added, "Whether there is any treasure or not, I am proposing to clear out the hull, down to her bottom planking, with my salvage devices and thus solve the mystery of whether she is a treasure ship or not. "At least I expect to find many things of historical interest, and hope to recover the bones of the American prisoners who were lost in that disaster." Lake wants primarily to vindicate his ideas about submarine craft, on which he started work in an age when under-water navigation was regarded as a fantastic and incredible dream. The Hussar reputedly brought gold and silver to finance the war against the rebellious colonists.

He was staying with his parents, in Coatbridge, Scotland, recuperating from a prolonged illness, when death occurred. He is survived by his widow, who is en route to Scotland; one daughter, Margaret, and one son, Frank. News of his death will be received here with profound regret by a wide circle of friends.

WILL HAVE TO STAND TRIAL

Charles Gould Committed on One Charge and Faces Assault Count

Charles Gould was committed for trial in the higher courts by Magistrate Jay, yesterday, in the city police court. He was charged with having broken and entered Room 203-A in the Woolworth Building by night, with intent to commit an indictable offence.

A second charge against the accused was that he had unlawfully entered the dwelling house of Laura Wright, being Room 3, at 1837 Blanshard Street, by night, with intent to commit an indictable offence, and did assault and beat a female. This latter charge was not proceeded with, the accused delaying his plea and his election until next Tuesday.

On the charge of breaking and entering rooms in the Woolworth Building, Stuart Henderson entered for the accused a plea of not guilty.

Marjorie C. Graham and her sister, Elsie Graham, who live with their mother in apartments in the building, gave evidence as to the events which led to the arrest of the accused on the charge.

SITTING ON BED Miss Marjorie Graham testified that about half past one o'clock on Wednesday morning, October 31, she was awakened to find the accused sitting on the bed. She said she was literally stunned, and called her sister.

The man, however, at once began to make explanations and said, "Oh! I've made a mistake," and gave his name as Williams.

Her sister, Elsie, in the next room, when she heard the voice of a man, called out, "Who is that? Is that you, Frank?" (meaning her brother).

She was told that it was a stranger, and Miss Elsie Graham turned on the light.

MOST APOLOGETIC

The accused, said Miss Graham, became most apologetic.

"I've made a terrible mistake," he said, "Tom Galley told me to come up here."

He kept repeating his apologies as he left the premises. Witness identified the accused and referred to his having a bandage on his left hand. She recognized clothing that the police produced which had been found in the room of the accused when arrested.

To Mr. Henderson, witness said that she recognized the accused in a line-up at the police station when seven or eight men were included. Her sister had suggested notifying the police on the morning of the visit of the accused to their rooms, but witness had persuaded her not to do so.

DOOR KEY MISSING

Miss Elsie Graham corroborated the evidence of her sister, and stated that she felt sorry for the man, who appeared to be very embarrassed by means of the misdirection which he claimed had been given him. She had asked him not to worry about the matter. When the man left, the key of the door was missing. She felt certain that she had locked the door the evening before.

Detective Henry F. Jarvis told of the arrest of the accused at his room at 1937 Blanshard Street. On Sunday, he and Detective Jack Rogers had questioned Gould, and later arrested him. Mr. Henderson felt that there was nothing on which to convict the accused, and asked for a dismissal of the case. C. L. Harrison contended that the accused had entered the place in a manner liable to cause a breach of the peace, which brought him under the provision of the code. The magistrate committed Gould for trial.

FRAUD EXPLAINED TO CREDIT GROUP

H. A. Beckwith Speaks to Victoria Association—Outlines Various Procedures

Fraud and how it affects retail credit men was sketched in a general fashion yesterday by H. A. Beckwith, local lawyer, in an address before the Victoria Credit Granters' Association at its luncheon in the Douglas Cafe. Mr. Beckwith reviewed seven applications of fraud, these, he felt, being the most important to his audience. False pretences was the first fraudulent act outlined by the speaker. This was a large field, he explained, and the most important factor for credit men was the "N.S.F. cheque" proposition. This act of fraud was now taken in under the Criminal Code, and persons passing 100 cheques were liable to prosecution.

"SUSPECT THE UNUSUAL"

"The soundest method to prevent this, I believe, is to post a sign on the cash register where only the proprietor or clerk can see it saying 'suspect the unusual,'" declared Mr. Beckwith.

The act of impersonation, when the person is wilfully trying to cheat the merchant, was a serious offence and carried a penalty of fourteen years in prison, declared Mr. Beckwith. Another means of fraud was that employed by persons purchasing goods on the installment plan. Many of these persons, explained the speaker, intend only to make the first payment.

He scored persons allowing small balances to remain on accounts after the greater portion of a large debt had been paid off. He declared he was not in favor of punishing persons at all times who have violated the Frauds Act. It was only necessary when examples had to be made.

Germany Seeks to Halt Rising Prices—Threatens Profiteers With Merciless Treatment

BERLIN, Nov. 9 (AP).—Dr. Karl Goerdeler, Adolf Hitler's new price dictator, swung into action against rising prices today, ordering Nazis to wear their old clothes "down to the last thread" and threatening profiteers with "merciless treatment." He told Germany "no one loses one bit of his dignity if he wears threadbare clothes," while "he acts against the nation's interests if he hoards clothing." In an address explaining his functions as commissar for control of prices, Goerdeler hit out at those

A PROUD INSIGNIA

It should be a task of supererogation to appeal on behalf of the purposes for which Poppy Day stands. Possibly, however, a newer generation has still much to learn of the sacrifices made during the Great War and of the legacies that struggle left. Those legacies run through our national life today in the presence of our midst of so many who, through the suffering they endured, are unable to carry on their normal vocations. It should stand in the forefront of an exhibition of the nation's pride to do whatever is possible to make life easy for those broken in the war. There is a small opportunity in this respect offered on Poppy Day. It is one that all may embrace, not as a mere matter of gratitude, or as payment of a debt, for that debt never can be paid, but as an evidence of simple duty and recognition of brotherhood, of good will and of sympathy with suffering. It is a proud insignia to wear a poppy today, an emblem as it is of national pride on this occasion which marks the anniversary of the Armistice period.

NAVAL CONVERSATIONS

The bilateral conversations in progress in London on the subject of naval strength indicate two things. One is that Japan is insisting, in theory at least, on parity in naval strength with any other nation. The other is that the American delegates are pledged to a continuance of those naval ratios which were accepted in the Washington and London treaties. Some dispatches say that the present deadlock in the discussions is due to Japan's insistence on parity. It may be equally due to the emphasis laid by the American delegates on the 5-5-3 ratio. Apparently both the United States and Japan are rigid in their attitudes. Great Britain is willing to reach some compromise.

The British Government is not insisting on the form of the ratio. It wants the form of any programme adopted suitable to the defence needs of the countries concerned, and which would allow a programme possible of continuance over a period of years. The purpose of the bilateral conversations is to reach a basis on which the three Powers concerned can approach the Naval Conference of next year. Very naturally, each nation is the best judge of what it requires itself for the purpose of national defence. The Japanese are proposing the curtailment of "offensive" armaments at sea. They also want a reduction of total tonnage and individual dimensions of ships which would apply to submarines and make their area of attack limited.

The attitude of the United States, apart from the perpetuation of the existing ratios of strength, is a 20 per cent reduction in naval forces. This would apply to total tonnage and to the number of ships, but not to their size. A 20 per cent reduction in cruiser strength would not be acceptable to Great Britain, for it would destroy the minimum level of safety in armaments. Absolute needs must be the final test in any measure of naval disarmament, not the question of relative strength as between Powers. Where the question of absolute needs arises it is pertinent to note that Admiral Yamamoto regards the British Empire as a unit for naval purposes. That is an admission as to the Power entitled to possess the largest Navy, but it is an admission which is not entertained by the United States.

The crux of the bilateral conversations now in progress in London is the difference of opinion between Japan and the United States. The London Times says that nothing apparently can keep the Washington Treaty in being except a complete Anglo-American acceptance of the Japanese claims. On the basis of logic and common sense, and particularly in view of the growth of the nation and her increased obligations, there must be realization of Japan's reluctance to accept a formally inferior position to any other country in her claims on behalf of national defence. The right of equality, the right of self determination; these are the considerations involved. Unless Japan is accorded these rights it may be doubted if it will be possible to hold another Naval Conference with any hope of successful issues.

INFLUENCE OF THE NOSE

Possibly exaggerated in some degree, but undoubtedly the basis of a good deal that influences social affairs is the sense of smell, which is taken as the text of an article by The Daily News Record of New York. That sense is described as a greater factor in business than price, quality or quantity. Men, it is claimed, marry perfumes rather than women. They take out a licence, says The Daily News Record, "when they encounter an extract they think they could endure at the breakfast table every morning for forty years." It appears, too, that people who object to paying $60 a month to a landlord will pay that much for a bottle of perfume.

It is significant, says Dr. Marston T. Bogert, in The Scientific Monthly of New York, that the first attempt to sell camels' hair shawls manufactured in Europe failed because, as they were received from India, they exhaled a peculiar and characteristic odor due largely to oil of patchouli. The deficiency was made good and the market expanded immediately. He says that when a customer picks up a cake of soap or a package of cosmetic the first impulse is to smell it. The sale of a house may be determined, says Dr. Bogert, by whether it smells old and musty or sweet and clean. Often the judicious use of appropriate and delicate perfumes determines the sale of high-priced motor cars, and theatres attract customers by the use of perfumes introduced in the ventilating ducts. "The use of incense in religious services is not only ritual but excellent psychology as well."

The same writer says that upholstery material coated with rubber latex enjoys a considerable sale where there is a judicious use of perfumes. High grade silken stockings are often faintly perfumed and scented cloth linings for bureau drawers are now being introduced. The appeal of Russian leather is because of scent imparted to it by the birch oil used for its preparation. A questionnaire was sent out recently as to likings of fifty-five different odors. In the order of choice the first ten were: rose, pine, lilac, violet, lily-of-the-valley, coffee, balsam, cedar, strawberry, and winter-green and apple. Scents have played their part through history. "The allure and fascinations of perfumes," says Dr. Bogert, "have been more potent factors in the rise or fall of empires than many of us realize. Antony sacrificed his empire and his life to the seductive aromatic Cleopatra. The Medici were famous for their perfumes and infamous for the way in which they used them to mask the deadly poisons with which they eliminated their enemies. One of the carefully guarded secrets of the British Royal Family is said to be the formula of a specially prepared perfume with which Buckingham Palace is sprayed for the Court presentations."

"WHAT THEY DID TO ME"

A motion picture actress, Margaret Sullivan, has contributed to Pearson's Weekly a very frank document which indicates how stage beauty is acquired. She has appeared in two pictures—“Only Yesterday” and “Little Man, What Now.” For the first she was engaged at Hollywood at a salary of $1,200 a week, and even before her arrival there her renovation commenced. A peremptory telegram to New York bid her “remove that wart” which she had always regarded as a beautiful mole to the left of her nose. She had removed, and arrived at Hollywood with, as she says, the mark of removal making her look “perfectly horrible.” Immediately an army of experts, men and women, was set to work on her. Only her eyelashes were approved. All her eyebrows were plucked out. Most of her upper teeth were taken out and replaced. Her upper lip was decreed to be too long; her face was described as lopsided, her mouth as drooping on the right side, her right jaw lower than the left one. All these “defects” were corrected by a generous application of “lipstick and paint. There were experiments before the camera with different shades of powder and make-up, with shadows and high lights, each face being tried under a different kind of lighting.

When all was prepared the tests commenced, and Miss Sullivan, in all her make-up, was asked to be natural. For a long time she failed to succeed to the satisfaction of the cameramen. It then appeared that her chin was giving all the trouble; it was not long enough. It was lengthened, and at last she appeared as a beautiful girl. Miss Sullivan tells how throughout her experiences she was jumpy and was always in a panic. One scene, she says, was shot sixty-seven times. Through it all the publicity department was “telling the world” all about her. Its representatives asked her questions—what she thought of love, which movie actor she would rather be kissed by, if she had been married or divorced. “So far,” says Miss Sullivan, “I have been able to resist buying a garish mansion with elaborate swimming pools and a freak car, although the salesmen assured me that it would greatly enhance my popularity. And I don't go to Hollywood parties. They look at me as if I am ruining my career. In short, they think I am insane. Hollywood and I have been together for about five months; one of us is certainly crazy. My performance in ‘Only Yesterday’ was, according to one New York paper, ‘flawless,’ and the picture a ‘hit.’ A few days later I went to see myself in my first motion picture; but I wasn't looking at Margaret Sullivan. I was looking at a rather charming creation of expert and patient men and women. Whatever talent I may possess was built with their hands and brains and magnified. And the critics said that Margaret Sullivan was good.”

LORD CARSON

Lord Carson saved Northern Ireland from the wreckage, and it is due to his superb leadership and his magnetic hold of the people of all classes that we today enjoy our position in the Empire. The “elderly barrister,” sneered at by the Nationalists and Radicals when he took over the leadership of Ulster, turned out to be a man of steel. He gave up his profession, sacrificed wealth, health, and time to serve a people whose judgment told them that Lord Carson they had a man who would not let them down. If ever a man deserved well of a community that man is Lord Carson.—Belfast Telegraph.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

O Death in life! the days that are no more.
So many worlds so much to do,
So little done, such things to be.
—Tennyson.

Dear R. B. D.—You mention the story “From Powder Monkey to Admiral,” and doubt if anyone has read it. I remember reading it when it first came out in the earliest numbers of The Boys' Own Paper, and a very good yarn it was, too. The popularity of the B.O.P. put out of business an old-fashioned paper called Young Folks' Budget, a large double sheet, with long columns. Authors were paid ten shillings a column, and Robert Louis Stevenson was pleased to accept this handsome payment for his “Treasure Island” and other stories, which I remember reading on their first appearance in this paper in the early '80's.

Boys' stories must have been brighter and better than they are now.

Yours truly,
PERCY A. CRUMP,
1812 Beach Drive, November 7.

Dear R. B. D.—In your Note and Comment today's issue of Colonist you say “I have never read ‘From Powder Monkey to Admiral.’”

It is a pity that you should say so. The story was published in the first number of The Boys' Own Paper, when that paper was started about 1878. I think nearly every boy of that age in England read and enjoyed it. I am writing this to let you know you have missed one of my old memories.

Yours truly,
GEO. F. SALMON,
1925 Foul Bay Road, November 7.

Writing the story as it was told to us of Old George's visit to H.M.S. Hood and his opinion of the modern British navy as expressed when bidding adieu to the admiral, we admitted never having read the tale entitled “From Powder Monkey to Admiral.” But we did not say such a story never had been written; in fact, we had a rather hazy recollection of seeing the title to the tale printed in some juvenile publication smuggled into our old school and being read when the master was not looking. Usually those contraband journals were passed around, for in those old days everything of that kind was communal property, but either the demand was so great or the rule-breakers were detected and the contraband goods confiscated, for our turn never came.

So we were writing from rather hazy memory in our references to “From Powder Monkey to Admiral,” and as conscience sometimes makes cowards of us all, so memory occasionally is treacherous and plays rather fantastic tricks upon us. On the other hand, it is sometimes a pleasure to awaken old memories and to dwell upon them. Youthful memories are the most pleasant of all, although there may be rather melancholy reflections attached to them. We have to acknowledge obligations to two correspondents for taking the trouble of writing for the purpose of refreshing our memory. It may be that the letters of Messrs. Crump and Salmon will take other readers far back into other years and revive memories of the pleasures of boyhood. Not the least of the pleasures of manhood as well as of boyhood is the pleasure of reading good stories well written and good stories well told. We sometimes wonder whether the literature written for modern youth is as good and wholesome as that which was published for the entertainment of their fathers.

We see by the papers that Mr. Gerry McGeer has finally decided to become a candidate for the mayoralty of Vancouver. Mr. McGeer is already a member of the Provincial Legislature, and he may yet become a candidate for election to the Dominion Parliament. There appear to be no bounds to the aspirations and the ambitions as there are no limits to the talents of this ebullient and ambitious candidate for any office which may be open and within the gift of the people. Mr. McGeer has already undertaken the task of establishing a new political and economic system. He is preparing to reform the provincial government and keep it in order. As another eminent Irishman said when taunted with neglecting something or other apertaining to his parliamentary duties, “I am not a bird, and cannot be in two places at once.” Mr. McGeer seems to think he is an uncommon bird which can be in half a dozen places at once. If he should be called to Ottawa, he can fly there. If there should be a political crisis in Victoria, he can hop over here on the wings of the morning and sprightly out the langle and soar over to Vancouver and express his opinion of the City Council at a meeting in the evening.

The times appear to have produced strong men, and no obstacles can prevent those giants from displaying their strength. If the United States has its Roosevelt, if the province of Ontario has its Heppburn, British Columbia has its McGeer, the peer of them all. If the occasion demands strong men, resourceful nature produces them on demand.

demand. If opportunities do not open for great men, they can be created. The strong man of the United States is performing his feats of strength “off his own bat,” as it were; but the giants of public life in Canada are not so confident of their own strength or the strength of their cause.

All the sportsmen in Canada are looking to Ottawa for assistance. They all say the reforms they advocate are dependent upon what Ottawa may do. Mr. McGeer declares that if he is elected mayor of Vancouver he will lift it out of the hole into which it has been allowed to drop. Premier Heppburn says that even the opulent province of Ontario cannot be restored to conditions of prosperity, nor even continue on its administrative way, without assistance from Bennett. Bennett is the ore of the interesting dramatic piece. They are all abusing him—and they all look to him as their saviour. Inconsistency appears to be the last refuge of new politicians.

AN UP-ISLAND UNION LIBRARY
Sir,—In one of your leading articles under the above heading, you have stated in the second paragraph: “The advent of the library has raised the literary and cultural tone of the Fraser Valley, according to the public testimony of a school inspector, who said it was distinctly observable in the schools.”

Would it be possible to get some suggestions so that such benefits could be brought about for the literary and cultural tone of Saanich? Saanich contains a fairly large number of people who are debarred from the above-mentioned “literary and cultural” tone.

Is there a remedy to be found? If so, how, where and when can it be attained?

HEAVY LEVIESNew Taxation Placed on Money and Goods Sent From Country

MEXICO, D.F., Nov. 9 (AP).—Heavy levies on money and goods sent out of Mexico are provided under the new "absentee tax law," the provisions of which were published today.

Petroleum and mining companies, which together account for 60 per cent of the nation's exports, will be hardest hit by the new taxation.

Exports will be taxed up to 4 per cent of their value in the world market, with the exception that, if the money realized is used to import goods the tax will be applied only to the net difference between the value of the exports and that of the imports.

DISCRETIONARY POWERS

The Finance Ministry was given discretionary powers in taxing petroleum exports. If the exports are by Mexican companies to foreign subsidiaries or affiliates, the tax may be based on the invoiced values of shipments, rather than on the world market value.

All money sent abroad for investment will be taxed 4 per cent, and that sent out for payments of interest or rentals will be taxed 2 per cent.

Persons leaving Mexico will be permitted to take out only 500 pesos (about $140) tax free. Any sum over that amount will be taxed 4 per cent.

Customs revenue, totaling $45,000,000, was $9,000,000 ahead of last year, excise duties totaling $26,000,000 were $5,000,000 up, income taxation yielded $49,404,000 and was $1,000,000 better than last year, while the gold tax thus far has brought in $3,873,145.

VICTORIA SEES
JAPANESE AUTOFirst Imported Vehicle in North America on Display at Jones' Brothers

Victoria was introduced, yesterday, to the first Japanese-made automobile ever imported into North America.

The car, now on display at the Jones Brothers Service Station, is a light delivery truck and is the fore-runner of a number of similar cars which will be placed on the market here.

Weighing but 1,123 pounds, the Daihatsu, as it is named, can carry 875 pounds. It has a wheelbase of seventy-eight inches.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

Although the car showing is a light delivery, the Automobile Manufacturing Company, of Tokyo, which assembled the truck, is planning shipments of roadsters, touring and sedan models. Equipped with tires, also of Japanese make, the car has all modern equipment. It is a right-hand drive, but future cars will be left-hand drives. The car is standard gear shift.

Although small, it has room for two persons in the front seat. The metal work on the car was all done by hand. It has the new "no draft" ventilation and the interior is paneled in oak. It has a spare balloon tire.

NAMED DISTRIBUTORS

"We have been appointed Canadian distributors for the Japanese firm," declared W. H. L. Jones. "We will import the cars as business warrants."

"How does it run," he was asked. "Excellent. Why this morning we went up Smith's Hill in high and that's fine performance for a small car," Mr. Jones replied.

LIBERALS SEEK
NEW CANDIDATESome Talk of Senior Counsellor in Party Being Asked to Stand Here

Considerable interest is being displayed among leading Liberals this week as to the choice of a party candidate to contest the Victoria riding at the next Federal general election. Among many mentioned the names of C. J. McDowell and W. H. Kinsman are well to the fore in informal discussions.

An effort of surprise developed yesterday with word of a fresh move to bring out a senior councillor of the party. Reacting from the swing towards youth and brilliance, which after some experience have not always stood up to former expectations, a group of Victoria Liberals were canvassing the possibility of persuading some of the senior members of the party to come forward at this time. The name of Stuart Henderson was being mentioned in this connection, though there is no assurance yet that he would permit his name to go forward to the nomination convention.

The official choice of the party is to be made at a nominating convention, timed for November 19, without apparent agreement on what type of candidate will be preferred on that occasion. Liberals generally are regarding the Victoria riding as a difficult test in view of its long affiliation in the opposite column.

GIVES FORMULA
FOR FERTILIZERSuperintendent E. M. Straight offers a Well-Balanced Soil Enricher
for Gardeners in District

A general purpose fertilizer which would be suitable for use in growing a potato crop as well as many other types of crops was offered to the Real Estate Board yesterday by E. M. Straight, B.S.A., superintendent at the Dominion Experimental Station. The formula was given in answer to a request from J. O. Cameron.

Mr. Straight suggested 200 pounds of sulphate of ammonia and 200 pounds of tankage or blood meal, which would supply the necessary nitrogen required. To this would be added 1,000 pounds of acid phosphate from some phosphatic rock. This would take the place largely of bone meal, being soluble in water. To this he would add 100 pounds of bone meal and potash to the amount of 400 pounds in the form of sulphate of potash or muriate of potash. This would provide 1,900 pounds, to which might be added any filler in the form of sand or charcoal, though this was not necessary. This would constitute a high-grade fertilizer, said the speaker.

FOR PEACH TREE

Asked what would be a good fertilizer for a peach tree growing against the wall, the speaker, in reply to Fred Landberg, suggested that about four pounds of such a fertilizer as he had given, scattered over a wide area and not against the trunk of the tree, might be used. The roots of the peach tree might be expected to extend over a circle as wide as the top of the tree.

Asked as to lime as a fertilizer for the peach, Mr. Straight said that lime would sweeten a soil that was acid in its character, but unless this latter condition prevailed, it was not necessary to use lime.

WATER SITUATION

In reply to a question by James Forman as to what he thought of the water situation on the Saanich Peninsula, Mr. Straight said water was very essential on the peninsula. The question as to the supply was something that rested with those who had to handle the economic question involved.

If there was water available from Sooke or from Elk Lake or elsewhere that was going to waste, they were not living up to their privileges if it was not being utilized. There was need of water beyond doubt. It might be that they could not supply the whole district that needed it, but as much as possible ought, if practicable, to be supplied.

VAGARIES IN U.S. TARIFF

Snails Classified as Wild Animals—Customs Make Strange Decisions

The United States customs tariff is full of vagaries and inconsistencies that often result in some very peculiar decisions being handed down, states Shipping Register.

There are more than 700 paragraphs in the tariff, and it is inevitable that some of these should be confusing. Under the tariff provisions, the United States Supreme Court has had to make strange decisions: that snails were wild animals; that tomatoes were vegetables and not fruit, and therefore, that a cotton pin cushion in imitation of a pear paid 60 per cent duty as imitation fruit, whereas only 45 per cent was paid when the pin cushion was in the form of a tomato or a pumpkin; that carbon sticks fourteen inches long were for duty purposes only twelve inches long, because similar in material to carbon sticks of that length; that a pearl necklace pays 80 per cent if the clasps are attached, but only 10 per cent if it has no clasps.

Frog legs have been held to be chicken, because similar in use; that venison is beef and pate de foie gras prepared poultry for the same reason; that while shoe polish is blacking because blacking includes white polish commercially; that wash women are ladies and the gloves used by them in washing clothes are ladies' gloves, and that corn plasters are wool wearing apparel. A classic decision on catgut strings assessed for duty as parts of musical instruments reads: "The goods are guts and guts are free. Claim sustained."

SCOUT CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

Shrine Band and Frank Merryfield Contribute to Interesting Programme

Varied and interesting entertainment of a high calibre featured the concert held in aid of the North Quadra Boy Scout Troop, last night, in the North Quadra School, before a large audience of adults and children.

Enthusiastic applause followed each of the many presentations, and the brilliant selections by the Shrine Band were popular with young and old alike.

Performing in a manner that instantly commanded the attention of all children present, Frank Merryfield, master in conjuring, mystified his audience with his feats and amused everyone with his wit.

Members of the Boy Scout troop also contributed to the programme. They sang songs, and a string orchestra played in a fireside scene.

SCOTTISH DANCING
Clever Scottish dancing was performed by Misses Evelyn Watson, Lillian Grant, Gwen Dewar and Jessie Pollack to the accompaniment of Pipe-Major Donald Cameron. In novelty dance routines, Raymond Hunt also pleased.

Another of the highlights of the evening was the amusing turn by "Yorkie," the ventriloquist.

A quartette from St. Matthias Choir was well received, and contributions by Robert Warmington.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief."

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day."

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs."

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN, I still eat regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew (address furnished upon request).

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

"The bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two table-spoons daily will usually overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Imprisoned by Nazis as Spy Suspect

MISS HELEN LYSTER

Miss Helen Lyster, of New Rochelle, N.Y., when accused at Munich, Germany, of espionage, was arrested, searched, stripped and imprisoned for several hours. She was then released, without apology.

Vocal soloist, brought much applause. F. J. Crowhurst was master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of the programme, Robert Dunn, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Boy Scout troop, spoke briefly, and thanked those present for the support they had given.

EXPERT SPEAKS OF LOCAL SOILS

Head of Experimental Station Gives Valuable Data to Victoria Realtors

A most interesting address was given before the members of the Real Estate Board, yesterday, on the soils of Southern Vancouver Island. E. M. Straight, head of the Dominion Experimental Station, was the speaker, and by means of a large chart he was able to show various soil formations that were found over the extent of the Saanich Peninsula. With this he made suggestions as to fertilizers that should be used to correct the lack in different soils that were encountered.

The proper admixture of clay and sand constituted in general the soils that were adapted to the growing of crops, whether of flowers or vegetables.

THE CLAY AREA
The clay area at the northern end of the peninsula was a rich one, but hard to work, requiring water. There was, he said, a tradition among the Indians that the end of the peninsula was formerly at Mount Newton and that north of that the area had come up out of the sea in later times.

From Mount Newton, to the eastward, was a formation composed of debris of broken rock. At Gordon Head the soil was coarse and easily worked, but the size of the particles of the soil was such that fertilizer was needed in quantity. Across in the direction of Colwood the soil was so coarse, becoming gravelly in parts, that it was not well suited to gardening. In the Keating Valley the effects of glacial action were in evidence and the soil in consequence was well adapted to the growing of small fruits, especially strawberries.

SOIL REQUISITES
Three things were needed in the soil to produce crops in satisfactory form, namely, potassium, phosphorus and nitrogen. In the buying of fertilizer, care should be taken to study the ingredients, so that unnecessary ones would not be purchased. For the production of crops, in which the green leaves were the essential part, nitrogen was most essential. If they were crops like corn and other grain production, phosphoric acid was essential. If they were root crops, the fertilizer required was potash.

Mr. Straight pointed out that in the leguminous plants nodules rich in nitrogen were formed on the rootlets, which were of tremendous value in enriching the soil. These, however, could not be produced without the use of water in sufficient quantity, as the fine roots did not act in gathering the plant food except when the soil was moistened.

T. J. Goodlake, president of the board, expressed the thanks of the organization to Mr. Straight for the valuable information he had given.

Brilliant Concert Is Well Received in City

Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, Praises Canadian Legion for Work—Britannia Branch Sponsors Entertainment

The Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, "In Remembrance" concert, held last night in the Shrine Hall, was a great success. Officially opened by Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, the concert lasted well over the hour set for closing.

In a brief address in opening the concert His Honor said:

PRAISES LEGION
"Before I open this evening's entertainment I should like to say a few words in praise of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, the organizers of this In Remembrance concert."

"I am going to take advantage of this opportunity to pay a tribute to the splendid work which the Canadian Legion has done, and is still doing, in that magnificent cause, the welfare of the returned soldier. In saying this I do not want, for one moment, to be thought of as upholding the principle of aggressive warfare. I am merely offering praise to an organization of returned men who, having done their duty to themselves and to their country, in a splendid way, are now helping to find a solution to so many of the problems that must face any people who have gone through a long and devastating war."

STRENGTH IN SANITY
The men of the Legion are to be admired for their conscientious regard for law and order; their loyalty to their fellow returned men and their love of country. Their ways are orderly and constitutional and they set a splendid example to all other organizations in the country.

"I think the strength of the Legion lies in its sanity. Quacks, cranks and fakers, with their novel and sometimes dangerous ideas, are ignored. Canada is indeed fortunate to have within its boundaries such a responsible association of returned men."

"The Legion has greatly helped Canada in the difficult stages of recovery and rehabilitation which are always concomitants of war. This concert tonight is held in commemoration of the day dedicated in remembrance and gratitude to those who gave their lives for their country."

"I think the strength of the Legion lies in its sanity. Quacks, cranks and fakers, with their novel and sometimes dangerous ideas, are ignored. Canada is indeed fortunate to have within its boundaries such a responsible association of returned men."

The city maintains that its minimum diversion should be around 5,000 cubic feet per second, but the Supreme Court has limited the flow to the limits approximating those set by treaty. Chicago was given a period in which to build a sewage disposal plant.

EMPLOYMENT OF LABOR
One of the treaty modifications, informed circles said, probably entailed the employment of United States labor on the United States side of the seaway. Another change strongly advocated by past opponents last session was a reservation of amendment affirming United States sovereignty over Lake Michigan.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association issued a statement tonight in which it predicted prompt ratification of the treaty on the basis of an "analysis of the new senatorial line-up."

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—Representations from the United States Government with respect to certain points in the St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty have been before the Canadian Government since Hon. William D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to Washington, would comment on the Washington despatch today reporting President Roosevelt's discussion of the treaty and the water levels in Lake Michigan.

Mr. Herridge has been in Ottawa a week in almost continuous conference with the Prime Minister, Dr. O. D. Stinson, under-secretary for external affairs, and other officials of the department. But so closely has he guarded the purposes of his visit that no accurate knowledge of it has leaked out.

Local authors represented on the programme included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ferne, Miss M. Eugene Perry, Floris McLarin and Donald Fraser. Mr. and Mrs. Ferne are just completing a musical comedy entitled "Love and Money," and Mr. Ferne sang two of the melodies from this, "A Pirate I Would Be" and "Love's Plea," both songs possessing popular and tuneful qualities that won instant approval. The singer, who has a pleasing baritone, was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ferne. Miss Perry's one-act play, "The Right Hat," was given a flattering reception. The Croft Studio players, represented by Jean Rutledge, in the role of proprietor of the hat shop; Elma Morby, in the part of the principal lady; Elinor; Charles Swannell, as Elinor's rather reluctant suitor, and Gladys West and Winifred Scowcroft, as the two customers who helped the woeing along, gave a clear presentation of the romantic little comedy. Miss McLarin's contribution was a dramatic reading written by herself, "Stamper Bill," and Mr. Fraser also read one of his characteristically pleasing compositions.

OTHER ITEMS
The rest of the programme was purely musical. Audrey Wood opened and closed the proceedings with charmingly played piano numbers: Brahms' Rhapsody in G Minor, and the two near moderns, Debussy's "Reflections in the Water" and Paganini's "The Sea," all showing good musical feeling. Sheila Conway sang "Dove Song" (Mozart), "Songs My Mother Taught Me" (Dvorak), and "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn). Two violin numbers were played by Betty Sledge, who showed nice taste in her playing.

Following the programme, the guests repaired to the dining-room for a beautifully appointed supper. Mrs. J. A. McLarin and Mrs. William Henderson presiding at the urns. During the evening, the president, Mr. Hicks, expressed the guests' appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron's kindness in acting as hosts for the occasion.

Full of the idea, off raced Reddy to the drainage ditch, and at once began to hurry along the bank toward the Laughing Brook, all the time watching and sniffing for signs of Jerry Muskrat. He was half way to the Laughing Brook before he stopped to get his wits to working. He had neither seen nor smelled Jerry, and it was mighty queer.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Minister Explains Distressing Plight Of Municipalities

Hon. A. W. Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipalities, Addresses Liberal Women's Forum—Mayor Leeming Doing Everything Possible

THE distressing plight of many British Columbia municipalities with heavy arrears of taxation, great reversions of improved and non-improved properties, added to social service burdens, unemployment relief, and a constantly increasing debt load brought about by the depression and other causes were pictured by Hon. A. W. Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipalities, in the course of his informative address on "Municipal Responsibilities" given to the Liberal Women's Forum, yesterday afternoon.

"What has placed these municipalities in their present state?" asked the Minister. Some would say the depression; some would make the criticism that these municipalities had spent too much years ago. In reply to the latter answer, Mr. Wells Gray parried that the people themselves were to blame for had they not, when the matter of expenditures for fine roads and schools had been put to a referendum, shown that they wanted the money spent.

VICTORIA ALSO

Figures were quoted to show the plight of Burnaby, Port Moody, the district of North Vancouver, the city of North Vancouver, and other organized districts of the province. Actual figures concerning Victoria were not given, but the minister said in this connection:

"The same picture could be shown of Victoria. But I am not criticizing your City Council. I think Mayor Leeming is probably the best Mayor you have ever had, and he is certainly doing everything possible to work out the salvation of Victoria."

NORTH VANCOUVER

North Vancouver district, as shown for the end of the present year, had 33,752 parcels of land assessed at $10,020,052; reverted tax sale properties for the year 1933, showed 18,870 parcels assessed at $2,316,000. The total assessed value of the district for the year 1933, showed 18,870 parcels assessed at $2,316,000. The total assessed value of the district for the year 1933, showed 18,870 parcels assessed at $2,316,000.

NEED ENCOURAGEMENT

The Government proposals for the relief of this situation were explained as being "to encourage taxpayers to continue to pay and retain possession of their homes." This would have the effect, also, of restoring confidence in these municipalities, and thus attracting new-comers. The proposed agreement would require an act of the Legislature to take effect. There would be no such legislation this session unless the bondholders accepted the idea.

"In my opinion, if an agreement is not reached, it will be five or ten years before the bondholders can get a cent. If the bondholders do not accept this offer, the responsibility will be their own, as neither the commissioners, the minister, nor anybody else has any better offer to make," Mr. Gray said. The Department of Municipal Affairs had been formed to help the municipalities.

B.C. NOT SINGULAR

British Columbia was not singular in this unhappy condition of her finances. Quebec, Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba were in perhaps even worse shape. "Had Premier R. B. Bennett implemented his pledge of putting everyone to work, it would have been better than promising to eliminate the debt system without any effort to put men at work," Mr. Gray stated. The Provincial Government last year had spent $1,000,000 on relief; the Dominion the same amount, and the municipalities $1,000,000 "without getting a shovelful of earth turned for it." This year things were a little better. Certain

MRS. ALEX MCDERMOTT

The Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital met yesterday to make arrangements for the annual bazaar to be held on Wednesday morning and afternoon, in the Nurses' Home of the hospital. Mrs. Frank Sehl, the president, is the general convener, and the refreshments, a feature of the bazaar, are being convoked by Mrs. Alex McDermott. The proceeds will be used for the general hospital fund. Mrs. M. M. Porter, the sewing convener, announced that 1,037 pieces of sewing had been completed during the past month.

Improvements were being carried out in Victoria, for instance—some perhaps not urgent, but nevertheless providing work.

In conclusion, Mr. Gray repudiated the charge made by "some of the newspapers" that he had refused to see representatives of the municipalities who came here to interview the Government last week. As a matter of fact, he had lunch with them.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

CLEAR VISION

Unfortunately when the child suffers, both mentally and physically, as a result of defective eyesight, he does not know what is the matter with him. Neither does he know anything about the proper use of his eyes.

In view of the child's lack of knowledge concerning his vision, parents have to be on the lookout for the signs that would lead them to believe that their child's eyesight might not be normal. Of all our senses it is the most essential.

One out of every four or five of our school children are suffering from eye strain or defective vision. These conditions can be very largely prevented by proper lighting in home and school.

How many parents detect faulty vision in their children? Do the child's eyes look strained or does he squint to see at a distance? Does he blink frequently? Does he read with the book too close to his eyes? (The normal distance is from twelve to fourteen inches.) Does he have any difficulty in seeing objects at a distance—an airplane high up, a steamship out at sea? Does he see objects distinctly? He may see them, but do they dance up and down? Ask him. Don't expect him to complain of these things.

If he falls down on any of these simple tests, then his eyes are defective and immediate attention and correction must be sought. Tomorrow's article: "Health Habits That Conserve Health."

Junior W.A. To Sponsor Horse Show

MRS. N. VAN DER VLIET

At a special meeting of the Jubilee Hospital Junior W.A. held yesterday at the Nurses' Home, Mrs. John A. Stewart, the president, in the chair, it was decided to postpone the proposed puppet show until early next year.

Preliminary plans were made for the auxiliary's next enterprise, a Winter horse show, to be held at the Willows Horse Show Building on Wednesday evening, December 19. Half the proceeds will go towards the auxiliary's funds and half to be spent by the Riding Club in providing work for the unemployed in making bridge paths.

Mrs. N. Van der Vliet was named convener of tickets, with the following committee to assist her: Mrs. H. T. Goodland, Miss Jean Campbell and Miss Dorothy Merrick, while Miss Mary Lou Ross was appointed in charge of the posters.

Members of the auxiliary have undertaken to decorate the building elaborately and to act as ushers for the evening. General admission will be very moderately priced and box seats will be reserved through Miss Margot Robertson.

It is understood that a spectacular programme of events is being drawn up by the Riding Club.

Liberal Women Send Letter to National Head

The Liberal Women's Forum, in session yesterday afternoon under the chairmanship of the president, Mrs. J. S. Akins, decided on motion of Mrs. J. L. White to send a letter to the president of the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada, Mrs. William Costello Kennedy, regretting that she had not come to the Coast and to Victoria during her recent trip to Western Canada.

Reference to Mrs. Kennedy's trip and its success was made in the monthly budget just to hand from National Liberal Women's headquarters. In this attention was called to the regrettable absence of women from public affairs of the country. Only five Canadian women held seats in Parliament: Hon. Senator Cairine Wilson, of the Canadian Senate; Miss Agnes MacPhail, of the House of Commons; Hon. Mary Irene Parby, member of the Alberta Legislature and Minister Without Portfolio; Mrs. R. P. Steeves, C.C.F. representative in the British Columbia House, and Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal M.P.P. for Vancouver-Burrard.

A collection was taken among the members for the Queen Alexandra Solarium, this amounting to $6.65. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the convener of the recent Forum luncheon, Mrs. Jessie Nelson, who gave a satisfactory report.

A good report of the last Local Council of Women meeting was given by Mrs. Pilgrim, whose reference to the candidacy of Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin for school trustee was followed by an appeal through the president, Mrs. Akins, for the support of the Forum members.

Thousands Will Hear Wedding Broadcast

The ceremonies surrounding the nuptials of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina, on November 29, will be broadcast by B.B.C. for reception in Canada and United States. The service will be held at Westminster Abbey, in the presence of Their Majesties the King and Queen.

Short-wave enthusiasts will be able to hear the wedding description at 3 p.m. P.S.T. on Thursday, November 29. Although no announcement has yet been made, it is probable, owing to the time element, that both C.B.S. and N.B.C. will carry the broadcast.

MANY MICROPHONINGS

The scene outside the Abbey will be described by Howard Marshall, before and after the ceremony. His first commentary will begin at 3 o'clock. The service and the commissionaries will be broadcast from all B.B.C. transmitters, including the Empire station at Daventry.

Twelve microphones inside Westminster Abbey will pick up every word of the impressive marriage ceremony and enable listeners to hear the first actual marriage service that has been broadcast in Great Britain. Other microphones will be placed outside the Abbey, at one of which Mr. Marshall will be stationed to describe the scenes as the procession approaches the West Door. As Princess Marina enters the Abbey, the broadcast will "fade across" to the microphones within, so that there will be no break in the continuity of the whole event. As the Royal couple leave the Abbey, Mr. Marshall will resume his descriptive commentary and will continue until the procession has left.

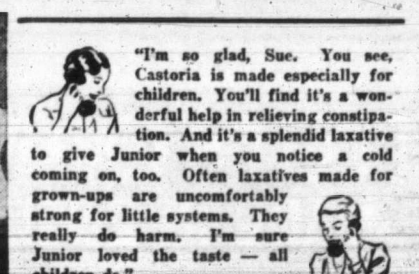

1 "Mary—I just don't know what to do with Junior. He whines like this all day long. And he hasn't one BIT of appetite!"

2 "I've gone through the same thing with my Polly. Don't worry—I'm sure all he needs is a good laxative. Give him Castoria tonight."

3 "Mary! I followed your advice—and you ought to see the smiles around here this morning!"

"I'm so glad, Sue. You see, Castoria is made especially for children. You'll find it's a wonderful help in relieving constipation. And it's a splendid laxative to give Junior when you notice a cold coming on, too. Often laxatives made for grown-ups are uncomfortably strong for little systems. They really do harm. I'm sure Junior loved the taste—all children do."

Armistice Dance Proves An Outstanding Success

Ex-Service Men's Organization Holds Brilliant Affair at Empress Hotel in Celebration of Armistice Period—Nearly 500 Guests

Between 400 and 500 guests attended the annual Armistice ball held by the Victoria branch of the Amputations' Association of the Great War at the Empress Hotel last evening, and it was pronounced a tremendous success.

Seldom has the ballroom looked more gay and colorful, the walls being draped with flags, lent through the courtesy of the Royal Canadian Naval Barracks, Esquimalt, while the orchestra platform was banked with ferns, among which the Flinders poppies made a brilliant note of color. A huge poppy wreath formed the central decoration on the stage.

A ten-piece orchestra was in attendance, and old memories were revived as such airs as "Take Me Back to Blighty," "Rose of No Man's Land," dedicated to the "Nursing Sisters," the veterans' own "Mademoiselle From Armentiers," "Rose of Picardy," "When the Bonny Heather is Blooming," dedicated to "The Scotties," "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," dedicated to the Irish, and, finally, "Till We Meet Again," brought forth enthusiastic applause. The latest song hits were also introduced, but the old favorites "won the evening," and Miss Dolly Rutledge, who sang a number of the refrains, was given a great ovation.

THE PATRONS

The ball was under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the Honorable the Premier of British Columbia; Commander G. C. Jones, R.C.N.; Major-General E. C. Ashton, D.O.C. M.D. No. 11, who, with Mrs. Ashton, was welcomed by the committee, and Mrs. W. C. Nichol.

Many of the ex-service men were in uniform, wearing their decorations, and the majority of the ladies wore poppy sprays on their gowns, adding to the distinctive color scheme of the affair.

The committee responsible for the great success of the ball included: Mr. A. Palmer, chairman, president of the branch; Messrs. J. Davey, the secretary; L. Deall, J. Peirson, Frank Jones, E. Tucker, C. Pullen, Harold Thirlwall, H. Erith, A. J. Rainer, A. Sutcliffe, F. Sargent and George Ockwell.

New Varieties Of 'Mums Will Be on Display

Another wonderful display of bloom will be presented at the Empress Hotel ballroom this afternoon, when the annual chrysanthemum tea is held. Fred Saunders, the hotel gardener, has been preparing this fine collection of show varieties for weeks past, and the eye of the connoisseur, as well as the more average flower-lover, will find much to delight in among the magnificent blooms that will be shown.

"Edith Cavell," a bronze; "Mrs. L. W. Wigg," an enormous specimen of which, twenty-six inches in circumference, has been preserved for the occasion; the red-bronze "Marjorie Woolman"; the red with gold reverse "Lord Hopetoun"; and many others of the large varieties, as well as all the best-known and several new pocket varieties, will attract attention in the effective scheme of display that is being arranged.

Tea will be served at small tables scattered about the ballroom, and during the tea hour, Miss Merle North will give a programme of vocal numbers.

Oak Bay W. A. Holds Bazaar With Success

In a charming manner, Mrs. James Hood opened the Christmas bazaar, held yesterday by the Women's Auxiliary to the Oak Bay United Church, in the social hall. She was presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers.

The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. A. J. Gerry. It was a most enjoyable, as well as successful, bazaar, and continued until late in the evening. Afternoon tea and supper were served, under the direction of Mrs. C. Cordiner and Mrs. W. Ruffell, the tables being attractively arranged with flowers.

The auditorium was decorated in the holly colors of red and green, crepe paper and evergreens adding to the brightness of the arrangements. The stalls were arranged accordingly and did a thriving business.

There was a novelty stall convened by Mrs. G. Wilson, and aprons were sold by Mrs. J. Sutton. The fancy work was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Johnson, and the baby stall was arranged by Mrs. S. H. Ormiston. Candy was sold by Mrs. W. Graham, and the home-cooking by Mrs. F. R. Wright. Members of the auxiliary assisted the conveners.

The affair was ably convened by Mrs. A. Tinker, who, with Mrs. Charles Hudson, arranged the entertainment which followed the supper. A most gratifying sum was realized to swell the funds of the church.

The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stewart (Prospect Lake), Mr. and Mrs. J. Price, Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bjorn, Mesdames E. K. Hinchcliffe, W. F. Griffiths, the presentation of a small memento of appreciation and good wishes was made by Mrs. L. A. Genge on behalf of the members present. Those attending, in addition to the guest of honor, were Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. Tyrwhitt Drake, Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Miss Ilae Terry, Miss A. B. Cooke, Mrs. W. H. Belson, Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, Mrs. David Miller and Miss Josephine Crease.

Forum Entertainers

Following their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon the Liberal Women's Forum entertained at a prettily-appointed tea in the Liberal rooms, with Mrs. G. M. Weir and Mrs. Gordon Sloan presiding at the table arranged with bronze chrysanthemums and green tapers. The Liberal ladies of the Oak Bay municipality had charge of the tea under the convenship of Mrs. C. H. O'Halloran and Mrs. Norman W. Whittaker, assisted by the Mesdames Taylor and Clearthine. A much-enjoyed musical interlude introduced as artists Mrs. F. Shrimpton, contralto, who sang two numbers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Chapman, and Mrs. Andrus.

Friendly Help Plans Shower at Oak Bay

The Oak Bay Friendly Help Association is planning its annual shower of clothing and groceries for Friday afternoon, November 16, from 3:30 to 5 o'clock, in the old high school building on Oak Bay Avenue. The schools of the municipality, as usual, are taking a keen interest in this affair, and the girls of the senior class in household science will serve tea.

In view of the increasing needs and the possible curtailment of the financial grant, it is to be hoped that generous supplies of clothing and non-perishable foods will be donated, thus lessening the financial outlay involved in the buying of supplies.

Shower Will Be Held To Assist Workroom

A material shower will be held at the home of Mrs. FitzGibbon, 1006 St. Charles Street, on Saturday, November 24, and tea will be served. Cottons, linen, flannelette, and materials of all kinds which may be made up at the Women's Workroom, will be gratefully received. Last year's appeal was most successful, and it is hoped that a large number of people interested in helping the Workroom will endeavor to attend.

Daily Bridge Question No. 23

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass

Answers to questions must be delivered, mailed or telephoned the same day as question is published, and addressed to Macan & Mitchell Bridge Studios, 221-2 Pemberton Building.

West opens the spade queen, on which North plays the king. East the eight and South the two. What card should North lead to the second trick, and why?

Answers to these questions must be delivered, mailed or telephoned the same day as question is published, and addressed to Macan & Mitchell Bridge Studios, 221-2 Pemberton Building.

Answer to Question No. 22

One club. This may at first appear strange. If, however, as is likely, your partner responds with one heart or one diamond, the second suit can be shown at the one level. If the opening bid is a spade, to any response but no trumps, the club suit could only be shown at the three bid level—a very dangerous proceeding.

Six Stars Have Important Roles in "Dames"—Beautiful Chorus Girls in Picture

Warner Bros.' latest musical spectacle, "Dames," which comes to the Capitol Theatre today, carries an unusually large and talented cast headed by six stars. And, in addition to the principals, there are 300 of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls, who appear in the novel Busby Berkeley ensembles, besides hundreds of extras.

Joan Blondell heads the list of principals, playing the part of a gold-digging chorus while Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler provide the romantic interest, the two screen lovers appearing opposite each other for the fourth time in pictures.

The other stars include Zasu Pitts, who has a comedy role as Ruby's mother, Guy Kibbee in the role of her husband, and Hugh Herbert as an eccentric millionaire who promises to leave them his fortune on condition that they prove to be a fine moral fibre.

DOMINION The Dominion Theatre will present Columbia's film sensation, "One Night of Love," starring the vivacious Grace Moore, for two more days. The film is based on a story by Charles Beahan and

VAUDEVILLE IS WELL RECEIVED

Broadway Vanities, at Empire, Are Greeted With Enthusiastic Applause by Large Audiences

Spectacular, humorous and novelty numbers formed the entertainment of "The Broadway Vanities," which opened here for the first time yesterday afternoon at the Empire Theatre after completing a successful tour across North America. The performances were witnessed by crowded houses and the acts were liberally applauded.

An expert roller skating act given by The Three Sensations was a most thrilling number, working to a climax with one of the actors skating speedily around in a circle balancing his two partners in the air. Another equally absorbing feature was the Indian dance wherein "Buddy" Brown, assisted by his two sisters, who previously appeared in tap dances, did some clever acrobatic dancing.

SUPPLY COMEDY

The comedy was supplied by Chuck Wilson and the orchestra director, Russ Ferris, and another amusing and clever feature was the playing of Art Boster on the musical saw, automobile pump, balloon and other articles. And finally appeared as soloist in the beginning of this musical novelty.

The Ritz Carlton Orchestra provided many tuneful melodies, including several novelties. Maria Arrigo was seen in dances and Hilis and Flint made a popular team, their dancing being spectacular. Several of the dancers appeared in cellophane costumes.

The Broadway Vanities have been engaged by the Empire Theatre until Monday night, and a special midnight show has been arranged for tomorrow and will feature an entirely new programme.

MANY MAIL ORDERS RECEIVED FOR PLAY

Already many mail orders have been received at the Empire Theatre for the Victoria Operatic Society's forthcoming presentation of Lionel Monckton's "A Country Girl," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 15, 16 and 17.

This musical comedy promises to live up to the reputation set by the Operatic Society in former years. The music of this light opera is delightful and is well known. The plot is an entertaining one and there is plenty of comedy.

A fine cast of principals has been selected, including Doreen Wilson, Marjorie Benson, Alec McGown, Alva Wetherill, Mildred Hamlet, J. Townsend, Fraser Lester, Harry Johns, Doreen Daniel, Harry Davis, Thelma Johns, Phyllis Deaville, Jack Child and W. Matheson.

CHAPTER XXX

Giles stepped forward and met Joan as she came in. "You," she said, and he wondered if it was his fancy, or if she really waited a moment before she held out her hand to him. He took it in a close grasp. "Are you glad to see me?" he demanded, "are you?"

Looking up into his smiling eyes, she knew that she was glad and said honestly, "Yes."

"It is a miracle, my finding you. Even now I don't believe it." "Tell me about it," she dropped into a chair in front of the fire and began to unbutton her jacket.

"As she talked he was aware of a change in her. She was thinner, paler. He missed in her the vivacious which had been one of her chief charms. She waked into keen interest, however, when he spoke of finding her handkerchief in the book."

"How did you know it was mine?" she demanded.

He reached into his pocket and brought out a wisp of rose-color. "You see?" he said, "you dropped it the night of the storm. And I knew the fragrance."

"Oh," she said, and a flush came into her cheek. He wondered what the flush meant. Was she offended?

"Are you glad to see me?"

There was a moment's silence out of which he said, "Won't you tell me of yourself? You see, I've heard nothing."

"There isn't much to tell, except that I am not going to marry Drew, and that Aunt Adelaide and I aren't friends."

"That seems to be enough," he leaned forward a little. "My dear, why didn't you leave a line for me?" She started to speak and stopped. Oh, why should she tell him? That she knew he had a wife? He might misunderstand her attitude, think her self-conscious.

"I thought it best not to let anyone know," was her explanation. And just then Penelope came in with the tea. After that the conversation was general. At last Joan spoke of her dancing class. "You should see the children."

"You should see Joan," Penelope said, "she's like a fairy." Giles shook his head. "I told her when I first met her she was a dandy."

When they told of the Thanksgiving pageant, Giles said, "I wish you'd invite me."

Penelope was eager. "We'd love it. Couldn't you stay over and have Thanksgiving dinner with us?" He looked at Joan. "Yes," she said, "why not?"

It was dark when Giles rose to go. "I will walk with you through the wood," Joan offered unexpectedly.

"Won't you be afraid to come back alone?" Giles asked.

"No, I do it often, and there's a man."

They went through the kitchen, and when the door was opened, old Muffet laid a grey shadow slipped out ahead of them and was lost in the gloom. The wind was blowing a gale, and as they walked along in the darkness, Giles took Joan's arm, anchoring her, as it were, against the blast. "I can't tell you," he said, "how glad I am that you are here with that good woman. I suppose I should regret your break with your aunt, but I don't. Not after seeing Mrs. Sears. A year with her is better than a decade with Mrs. Delafield."

"Penelope's a darling," Joan agreed, "but there are times when I miss—the flashpots."

They walked on for a while in silence, then Joan added, "And there are times when I miss—Drew."

All at once, tumultuously, because he was her friend and because there in the windy park it seemed easy to give him her confidence, she told him all about it. She began from the moment in the storm when Giles left her with Drew. She told of the pressure which had been brought to make her apologize. "Aunt Adelaide wanted to bend opened the door, old Muffet slipped in ahead of her. The old cat had a mouse in her mouth. She had caught it in the wood, and Joan saw her yield up the limp body to her kittens. Life was like that. Muffet had been only a half hour away. Yet in that time something had been killed.

The Thanksgiving pageant took place in the schoolhouse. It had been decided that as friends and families were to be invited, Penelope's living-room would not be big enough.

There were hangings on the schoolroom ceiling of blue with silver stars as if the sky were overhead, and on the low platform was an altar, with a brazier upon it in which a fire burned steadily. To the right and left of the altar were screens covered with gold paper. After the audience had gathered, the lights went out, and when they were turned on again, the children were posed classically against the screens, in tunics of green and purple, of blue and red. Each bore some fruit of the harvest, and when the music began they progressed in a swaying march, which brought them to the middle of the floor, around which the audience sat in a wide half circle.

In the centre of the room the marchers separated, and each one stepped forth in an individual dance, which ended in the laying of a gift at the foot of the altar. Then the dancer stepped back and another dancer came forward.

Behind one of the golden screens Joan played the piano. A peephole gave her a view of the children. How lovely they looked. . . . there was Penelope, apple blossoms in her hair and carrying a tray heaped with the luscious fruit; her brother John, sturdy in brown and yellow, bringing a sack of fresh-baked bread to set by the side of the comb of honey which a tiny child with a crown of golden bees held high on a silver dish.

Evelyn Briggs said to Penelope, "It's a most wonderful thing."

POLICE CHARGES ARE WITHDRAWN

Apology and Retraction of Allegations Against Saanich Board Conclude Inquiry

The inquiry into charges made against the Saanich Police Commission by Henry S. Rounding came to a close last night, when Mr. Rounding, in a letter presented to the court of inquiry, withdrew in full his charges; apologized for having put the court to so much trouble, and also for having written without consideration; expressed the hope that his letter would be accepted as a medium of redress, and also expressed the hope that the inquiry would act as a preventive to further malicious statements that might be circulated in the municipality without foundation.

The court of inquiry, which comprised the personnel of the Saanich council, adjourned and decided to report to the council the withdrawal of the charges.

COUNCIL MEETING

Reeve William Crouch immediately called a meeting of the council to hear the report. The council, after a short debate, decided to accept the letter of apology from Mr. Rounding, and instructed the municipal clerk to forward it to the police commission. Reeve Crouch, who is chairman of the police commission, informed the council that he accepted the letter in the spirit in which it was written. "We all act hastily at some time or another, and I feel that we should accept this letter as the only medium that Mr. Rounding had of making redress."

E. L. Tait, solicitor, directed and advised the court as to the action it should take at this unexpected turn of events, and at the previous meeting also directed the taking of evidence. The council decided that, since the inquiry was not finished, due to the fact that the charges were withdrawn, and left the court without anything to investigate, no transcript of the evidence should be made, but that the clerk of the court should be instructed to preserve his notes in case of emergency.

Hockey Champs Blank Indians

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 9 (CP).—London Tecumsehs, last year's champions of the International Hockey League, blanked the Cleveland Indians by 4-0 in the opening scheduled game, staged before 2,000 spectators here tonight.

Eric Pettinger, of Regina, scored two of London's goals, while Bill Holmes and Jimmy Arnot, former Pacific Coast League stars, accounted for the other two.

BATTAGLIA WINS

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9 (AP).—Frankie Battaglia, flashy Winnipeg boxer, tonight won a technical knockout from George Black, of Milwaukee, in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round headline bout here.

Black's left eye was cut badly and he was unable to continue near the end of the fourth. He had been knocked down four times. Battaglia weighed 156 1-2, Black 157 1-2.

Whittles Is Ready

SEATTLE, Nov. 9 (AP).—Les Whittles, right-winger, with the Seashawks last season, yesterday arrived unannounced from his home on the Canadian Prairies and declared himself ready to start practice soon as Manager Peyton calls his athletes together. Four members of last winter's Seattle squad are now on hand. Besides Whittles, they are Jack Arbour, Hank Dyck and Moon Mullen.

ANCIENT RIDDLE FINALLY SOLVED

Uranite Found in Manitoba Proves Earth 1,725,000 Years Old

WINNIPEG (CP).—The age-old question concerning the age of Mother Earth was believed solved today. This piece of a uranium mineral, taken from the mining fields of Manitoba, has supplied the answer to the query as two groups of scientists placed the age of the universe at approximately 1,725,000 years.

The scientists, one group in Vienna, the other in Canada, working independently and using different methods of calculation, arrived at the same result after study of radio active minerals—ten grammes of uraninite taken from a mining claim near Point du Bois, ninety miles northeast of here.

"It seems at last that science has solved the problem of 'how old is the earth,'" said Dr. J. S. Delury, professor of geology at the University of Manitoba, commenting on the results of the research work. It was amazing, he declared, two independent groups engaged in the study, should agree so closely.

Referring to the discovery of the uraninite, Dr. Delury said, "It is unlikely the mineral is of widespread distribution in Manitoba, or will ever be found in large quantities. In fact, scientists will be lucky if they get half a pound in all—barely enough for further research work."

In estimating the earth's age, scientists utilized the radio-activity of mineral content of rocks, found in the great pre-Cambrian shield, which covers a great part of Manitoba.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The spirit of pleasure rather than business might dominate the day. Comparatively little activity may be noted in commercial life. Climate conditions will possibly be the determining factor as to the type of social activity that will be offered for entertainment purposes. A tangible evidence of someone's affection may be given to you before the day is over. Housewives will be wise to pay special attention to pleasing and appeasing the family appetite on this date. Palates and tongues are apt to be supersensitive to taste, and dispositions will possibly be affected by the quality of the meal served. In a spirit of generosity, be careful you do not give away something you may later want yourself. Idle hands are likely to get into mischief on this day, so the brainy man and woman will keep their industriously occupied. Married and engaged couples, as well as those eager to offer their hand in marriage, will use good judgment, as well as discrimination, if they select for a rendezvous a place with a well established reputation and not one chosen haphazardly.

If a woman and November 10 is your birthday, it will probably turn out a far more delightful one than you have anticipated. It may prove to be a turning point for good fortune in your financial affairs, and while there may be no immediate manifestation of this, very shortly it might become apparent. Your strong personality will impress others with your ability and inspire confidence. As a professional shopper, purchasing agent or buyer for a highly specialized shop or department in some large store, journalism, or short story writing, may prove to be the line of work for which you are best fitted. Your married life should turn out just as you have hoped it would.

The child born on November 10, when it reaches its teens, may prove ambitious and unusually capable. It should be able to hold its own under any conditions and will make friends readily.

If a man and November 10 is your natal day, your capacity for work is unlimited and will enable you to reach an enviable position if you engage in the line of work for which you are best fitted. Law, medicine, literature, engineering and newspaper work are some of the professions in which you should do well.

Once a weaver, John Hamer has just been elected Mayor of Rawten-stall, England.

"Next to Advertising Matter"

THERE used to be a favorite phrase of advertisers. They asked to have their advertisements placed "next to reading matter" in the belief that such a position would assure more attention.

But today the editor might well ask to have his news items placed "next to advertising matter," for very definitely the advertisements have a tremendous reader following. Today's advertisements win eager attention because they help people buy intelligently, quickly, without waste of time, and get full value for the money spent.

That is the great function of advertising—to guide you swiftly and surely to wise, economical buying. The best advertisement is always the one that gives you the facts you want—simply, honestly, without exaggeration.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell Now Hopes "To Take It Easy"

With more than forty-two years of dog-team mushing over the Labrador icy wastes to his credit, Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell, silver-haired medical missionary, who is noted for his heroic welfare pioneering work, may soon decide to "take it easy," a rest he has richly earned in an action-crammed life.

The pleasant-looking Englishman, whose exploits include carrying medical aid to the isolated Labrador fishermen and their families in the teeth of fierce blizzards, has remained modest while the entire world has paid tribute to his indomitable zeal.

All over the wind-swept and bleak peninsula, which thrusts its huge length into the key-cold northern Atlantic, are scattered medical stations and other relief outposts attesting the industry and kindness of Sir Wilfred.

Back in 1892 he left his pioneer medical work with North Sea fishing folk and turned to out-of-the-way Labrador across the Atlantic.

Dr. Grenfell had heard harrowing tales of the wretched condition of the Canadian mariners. Equipped with a hospital ship, he arrived on the rocky shores of Labrador and began his work of relief for the 15,000 inhabitants, some of whom are Christianized Indians.

In the following years Dr. Grenfell added five hospitals to his primitive original structure. They were erected about 150 miles apart from each other. He also built nurses' stations, school orphanages and co-operative stores.

QUESTION BOX TO BE OPENED

Dr. Davies Will Answer
Queries at Empire Theatre Sunday Night

The Question Box, an increasingly popular feature at Dr. Clem Davies' services, will have the following queries for answer on Sunday night:

"My fiancé, a young man of Catholic faith, and I, a Protestant, would be willing to sacrifice our religious ideas to a great extent, if we thought we could be happy after marriage, but we are perplexed."

"One man steals a sack of coal, value one dollar, and gets ten days in jail, or one day in jail for each ten cents; another man embezzles $85,000 and gets three years, or one day in jail for each $77.50. What is the difference between stealing and embezzlement?"

"Should women spend their time playing bridge when, blessed with health, they could help some poor soul without sufficient money to get what help they need?"

"Are the history and prophecy of Oliver Cromwell and Napoleon in the Bible?"

"Is there a time of great tribulation coming, and if so, why let people know this, if it is harmful?"

"What is the authority for the historical data on the Welsh nation given by you at the recent Welsh gathering in Victoria?"

"We know the number of the beast is 666; what is the mark of the beast?"

"Was there a continent of Atlantis and did its inhabitants build the Great Pyramid?"

"What is the meaning of the seven angels pouring their vials, mentioned in the Book of the Revelation?" (Omitted last week.)

In the morning Dr. Clem Davies will preach on the theme: "Is Tithing Feasible Today?"

CONGREGATION TO OBSERVE SILENCE

First Baptist Services to Fit Remembrance Day—Rev. G. A. Reynolds, "Price of Peace"

Remembrance Day will be recognized in the First Baptist Church tomorrow. The morning congregation is requested to be on time, as the two-minute silence will be observed at 11 o'clock. G. H. E. Green will sound the Last Post preceding the silence, and the Revellie following it. Rev. G. A. Reynolds will preach on the subject, "The Price of Peace."

The choir will render Barby's requiem, "Sleep Thy Last Sleep." The male quartette will sing Ramler's "In Loving Remembrance," Messrs. W. O. Richardson and G. H. E. Green composing the quartette. At the evening worship the minister will speak on "Twenty Years After; and What?" The choir will sing Lowell Mason's "O Praise the Lord, All Ye Nations." Mr. Green will play a cornet solo, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Episcopalians Keep "Protestant" Name; Favor Birth Control

THE most sensational act of the Protestant Episcopal Convention, which has just concluded its sessions at Atlantic City, was its approval of birth control. The resolution endorsed the efforts now being made to secure for physicians, hospitals and medical clinics "freedom to convey such information as is in accordance with the highest principles of eugenics and a more wholesome family life." The vote was 44 to 38 in the resolution's favor, many bishops not voting. Right Rev. S. A. Huston, Bishop of Olympia, Wash., backed the measure, while Right Rev. W. T. Manning, Bishop of New York, opposed.

The convention voted against dropping "Protestant" from the church's name. At the same time, Bishop Manning pointed out that the acceptance of the Orthodox and Roman orders by the Episcopal church and its rejection of the Protestant orders prove that it is Catholic and not Protestant.

Editors in Canada Try Their Hand at Preaching Sermons

THE editors of several Canadian dailies ascend the pulpit once a week and preach a sermon to their vast congregations. The pulpit is the editorial page and the congregation is the host of readers. The ecclesiastical parsons preach on politics; why should not the secular parsons talk about religion? At any rate they do, and by the same token, do it well. They are street preachers, in a fashion, in that they reach the man on the street. Some account of these preachers, who are to be heard in Victoria, Vancouver, Montreal and Halifax, will be given in the next two Sunday issues of this journal.

Gunners and Scottish All Primed for Today's Annual Army Rugby Fixture

Teams Formidable For Cup Match at Macdonald Ground

Two Well-Drilled Fifteens Will March on Field to Battle for Fordham Johnson Cup — Mayor David Leeming to Start Teams in Action — Preliminary Game Booked

With the Fifth Regiment and Canadian Scottish, rival fifteens in today's All-Army Rugby classic at Macdonald Park, in the pink of condition following a number of successful, oval ball followers are anxiously awaiting the sound of the whistle that will send the squads into action in what promises to be a great battle for supremacy in local militia circles. Mayor David Leeming, himself an ardent sportsman and keen Rugby follower, will set the teams in action at 3 o'clock by kicking off the ball.

As a curtain raiser to the big game the intermediate fifteens from the Canadian Scottish and the Fifth Regiment will clash in a regular league fixture at 2 o'clock.

GUNNERS FAVORED

Gunners, who are securely camped in second place in the league standing, were today favored to take the match and retain the Fordham Johnson Cup, presented for this annual classic by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. In two years that the cup has been played for, the Fifth Regiment have won it once, which was last year, while in 1932 the fifteens battled to a draw and the cup was held by each unit for six months.

Today the Canadian Scottish, with a changed line-up from that which has carried their colors into battle in league matches, hope to turn back the battling Gunners and gain possession of the handsome cup for the next twelve months.

CHANGED LINE-UP

Manager Cyril Wightman has announced the following line-up for the Canadian Scottish: Ted Colgate, Jack Horne, Larry Henderson, Campbell Forbes, Art Chapman, Bob Tye, Max Billingsley, Bill Campbell, George Knight, John Gardner, Bruce McGregor, Sam Gardner, Dick George, Jack Banks and Ian Acland.

While the definite starting line-up of the Fifth Regiment depends on the condition of Roddy McInnes, Paul Rowe and Bob Engleson, reported suffering with injuries Thursday evening, it is expected that Manager Charlie Morton will be able to trot out his championship squad in full force. Providing the injured players are sufficiently recovered, the Gunners will present the following team: Roddy McInnes, Bert Simpson, Gordie Scott, Paul Rowe, Alec Gault, Ken Fleming, Wally Stipe, Bob Engleson, Les Gray, Maryin Deacon, Doug Peden, Dan Doswell, Harry Eastham, Ed deBlacquire and Fred Hobson, Muzz Patrick.

TED COLGATE

Arnie Philippen and Art Leeson will be in uniform and ready to get into the fray if any of the regulars are unable to start.

PRELIMINARY GAME

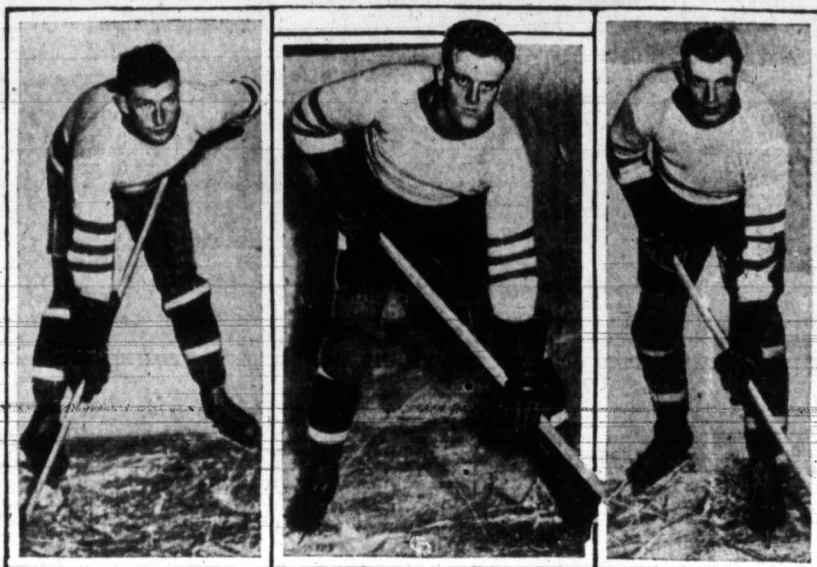

The intermediate fixture between the two militia fifteens promises to be keenly contested from the very start.

The teams for the second division match follow: Canadian Scottish: Griffin, Macdonald, Forbes, H. Anderson, D. Anderson, Anderson, Sprad, McLaughlin, Buckler, Custance, Briggs, Pearson, Cooper, Howell and Adamson; reserve, McRae.

Fifth Brigade: Mason, Kirkbride, Ritchie, Blackie, Leason, Ferguson, Langdon, Thorsen, Gower, Saunders, Roskelley, Stewart, Dohney, R. Gemason, H. Shanks; reserves, G. Clark and McKay.

The above are asked to be at the Armories at 1:15 o'clock sharp.

Patrick's Third String Line

The highest scoring front-line in hockey over a period of years, has long been New York Rangers' boast, as they sported the Cook-Boucher-Cook trio. Here is a third string line they may have to watch this season, as it will be one of the bulkiest attacking trio of forwards to start together as rookies. Left to right, they are: Charlie Mason, Saskatchewan amateur product, right wing; Lynn Patrick, son of the Ranger mentor, Lester Patrick, centre, and Bert Connolly, formerly left wing sniping ace of the Moncton Hawks. Together, they average an inch under six feet in height, 178 pounds in weight and twenty-three years in age. These lads played sparkling hockey at the Rangers' Winnipeg training camp.

Chailoner, A. Dowell, A. D. Findlay, D. Fletcher, F. C. Holden, J. A. MacKinnon, A. H. Sutherland, R. R. Taylor, and A. Woodcroft. The committee will meet next Friday and elect officers.

GRID FINAL OPENS TODAY ON MAINLAND

Regina Roughriders Arrive in Vancouver for Series With Meralomas

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP).—Coach Greg Grassick and a score of grinning, confident Prairie football warriors marched into Vancouver today for their third invasion of Coast gridiron in seven years.

Tomorrow Vancouver will "go football" as Regina Roughriders and Vancouver Meralomas meet in the first of a two-game total-point series for the Western football title.

Roughriders have been here twice before and each time left behind them a wholesome respect for their brand of football. This, however, is the first time they have been here in a Dominion semi-final.

HOLDS WORK-OUT

The Prairie gridgers went through a light work-out this afternoon, and after watching the smoothly-drilled visitors romp through a half-dozen practise plays, observers conceded they were the classiest aggregation of footballers any Coast team has stacked up against. The way the towering Ole Olsen rifled passes to his teammate, Steve Adkins, was something of a revelation to Coast fans, who see little of it in Big Four play here.

Tonight Meralomas wound up their training with a chalk talk and a study of pictures of their series with University of Alberta last week. Coach "Hammy" Boucher said the film showed several of the boys loafing.

"There will be none of that tomorrow," he declared. "Every man will be on the ball all the time."

PEDEN AHEAD OF BIKE RACE

Victorian and Two Partners Out in Front of Cleveland Six-Day Event

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9 (AP).—Peden, Audy and Lepage were leading the field of eight three-man bike teams, tonight, as the six-day event here entered the twenty-eighth hour.

The Canadian team passed the 500-mile mark after nearly four hours of continuous jamming.

The 12:30 a.m. standing:

Peden-Audy-Lepage 568 2 205
Faulding-Crosby-Fryar 568 1 145
Sestia-Zach-Raggio 568 1 80
Kilian-Vopel-Miethe 568 0 309

Winter-Walthour-Ostervale 568 0 193
Boogmans-Van Slambrouck 568 0 118

Grid Meeting Is Set Today

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP).—The Western-Canada Rugby-Football Union will hold its annual meeting here tomorrow morning, prior to the Regina-Vancouver football game.

It is understood British Columbia delegates will seek to have the interference ruling increased from five yards to ten.

ALBIE DAVIES WILL MEET FIELDING IN FIFTEEN-ROUND MIX

Both Principals Reported in Fine Shape for Elimination Bout at Tillicum Gymnasium — Each Confident of Gaining Victory — Fine List of Preliminaries Are Lined Up

BILLED as a British Columbia elimination bout for the now vacant Canadian welterweight boxing championship, tonight's fifteen-round mix between Tommy Fielding and Albie Davies, Victoria aspirants for the title, at the Tillicum gymnasium, is creating more interest in local cauliflower circles than any fight here for many years.

Reports of advance ticket sales indicate that a capacity crowd will witness the bout, which has been eagerly awaited for some time. Promoter Joe Bayley announced yesterday that there is a probability of the winner of tonight's bout being matched with Gordon Wallace, Vancouver claimant of the title.

MANY FAVOR DAVIES

The opinion of the local fistic experts as to the outcome of the contest is divided. Some claim that Albie Davies, by virtue of his superior speed and physical condition, will win an easy decision over Fielding who, they claim, has slowed up considerably and will not be able to cope with the speed and cleverness of his younger opponent. They all contend, however, that Tommy will put up a much better showing tonight than he did against his sparring partners, P. Neel and Tim Kelst, Thursday evening, as they are all firmly convinced that he willfully made himself look bad so that the many backers of Davies would take the bait and take the many wagers on the bout that are being offered by the Fielding supporters.

Other experts, of which there seem to be quite a number, predict that Fielding will win the fight with a knock-out. His advantage in weight, greater experience, harder punching ability, and superior infighting qualities will give him a big edge on Davies, and they predict that he will unwork left hooks and other punches that will slow his opponent away via the slumberland route. Most of the experts, however, agree that the bout should be one of the most interesting that has ever been staged here.

The balance of the programme is of an all-star nature. All of the local boxers, who are taking part, are worthy of top positions at any fistic show, and their opponents, who have been personally selected by Jack Allen, are credited by him as being worthy opponents for the local battlers, so it is quite evident that the fans will witness a great show.

FINE CARD

The complete programme, which will commence at 8:30 sharp, follows:

Bout 1—Four rounds; 135 lbs. Nick Lister, Work Point Barracks vs. Ray Adamson, Vancouver.

Bout 2—Four rounds; 125 lbs. Frankie Neel, Victoria vs. Arnold Robertson, Vancouver.

Bout 3—Four rounds; 125 lbs. Billy Buxton, Victoria vs. Gordon Navery, Vancouver.

Bout 4—Fifteen rounds; British Columbia elimination contest for Canadian welterweight title: Albie Davies-Victoria vs. Tommy Fielding-Victoria.

The officials who will handle the contest are: Announcer—Fred Richardson. Judges—Al McKinnon, Angus (Scotty) MacKay. Referees—Premillaries, Ted

Canadian Track Boys Still Have Busy Programme

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 9 (CP).—The triumphant Canadian schoolboy track team, winners of a one-day meet at the centennial celebrations here, have accomplished the main purpose of their trip to the antipodes, but they still have one track meet and much sightseeing to look forward to before they sail for home.

After the meet today, in which they won eight out of 11 events in competition with two sister Dominions, the visiting schoolboys attended a great ball given in their honor. Next week they will make two comprehensive tours in the country.

On November 22, the Canadians will leave for New Zealand to participate in another schoolboy athletic meet. They leave Auckland December 11 for home.

Olympic Bosses Adopt Cage Game

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 9 (AP).—Dr. F. C. Allen, athletic director of the University of Kansas, was advised in a cablegram today, from the secretary of the Olympic committee in Berlin, that basketball had been admitted as a contesting sport in the 1936 Olympics. Allen said he expected eighteen or twenty countries to have basketball teams in the competition.

CANNY SCOT PAYS PLENTY

Returns $168 for Win in Second Race at Bay Meadows

BAY MEADOWS TRACK, SAN MATEO, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP).—Kapena won today's feature race at Bay Meadows, nosing out Little Son at the wire after the latter had led from the start. It was a six furlongs sprint for three-year-olds and up for a purse of $700. The time was 1:12.

Black Mammy ran third. Buddy Thornton was up on the winner, favorite at post time.

Kapena paid $5.00, $3.00 and $2.40. Little Son returned $4.20 and $3.20 and Black Mammy $2.80.

Seven thousand fans were given early thrills when Canny Scot, owned by L. C. Gius and ridden by Glenn Spangler, won the second race and paid $168 to win, $80 to place and $34.40 to show. It was the highest price of the meeting thus far.

In the fourth race another long shot came home, with Bataille, owned by J. A. Nix and ridden by Claude Hooper, paying off at $65.80, $27.80 and $11.40.

The $5,000 San Jose Handicap, richest purse to date, will be run tomorrow over six furlongs. It will be for two-year-olds. Toro Nancy, smart little filly owned by Norman W. Church, will go to the post the favorite with R. Jones up. Overnight entries numbered thirteen.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Flood of Molasses.—In September, 1911, Market Street in New Orleans, suffered one of the strangest floods in all history. A reservoir holding about a million gallons of molasses burst and flooded the street to a depth of three feet all the way down to Lake Pontchartrain, where it mixed with the water and killed all the shrimp, sardines and other fish in the lake. All the houses and stores along the route suffered from a plague of flies, ants and cockroaches for many a moon until the sticky material was removed.

CANADIAN TRACKSTERS CAPTURE EIGHT EVENTS

Dominion's Squad Scores Decisively At Melbourne Meet

Take Eight Out of Eleven Events to Win From Victoria State and New Zealand by Comfortable Margin—Break Three Records en Route to Victory—Victorious in Relays

MELBOURNE, Victoria, Nov. 9 (CP).—Lithic-limbed and muscular Canadian schoolboys today won places in the Australian records and established themselves among the greatest track and field prospects of the British Empire as they won eight of eleven events at the Melbourne centennial celebrations to decisively defeat select teams from Victoria State and New Zealand.

Three Australian schoolboy records were shattered by the twelve Canadian athletes as they piled up a total of eighty-three points to lead Victoria by twenty-five in the final standing. New Zealand was third with twenty-nine.

Eddie Ware, one of the best all-around athletes ever developed in Canada, put his 185 pounds behind the shot to better the Australian shot-put mark by seven feet with a magnificent heave of 46 feet 10.34 inches.

The shot-put mark was the only individual record broken during the one-day meet, but Canadian teams displayed remarkable co-ordination in baton passing to win both the 440-yard and mile relays, with record time in each event.

In the quarter relay, Jim Homer, of Toronto, captain of the Canadian team, carried the baton to the tape in 43.9 seconds, remarkably fast time considering the heavy, rain-soaked track and the strong wind which handicapped the runners.

Howard McPhee, ace Vancouver sprinter; Sam Richardson, colored Toronto all-rounder, and Bill Savage, of Hamilton, completed the 440-yard team.

LIMON RUNS ANCHOR

Vancouver middle-distance man, anchored the mile relay quartette and led the field to the tape in 3 minutes 33 seconds. Three fast-stepping Ontario youths, Lyle Fleming, of Blenheim; Johnny Loring, of Windsor, and the Canadian schoolboy champion, Andy Zizis, Toronto, gave Limon a handsome lead.

McPhee, perhaps another Percy Williams in the making, emulated the Olympic feat of his famous fellow Vancouverite by scoring a double victory in the sprints. Just as the great Percy triumphed at Amsterdam, in 1928, eighteen-year-old Howie burned up the heavy Melbourne Cricket Field track to win the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Ray Jensen of Stensville, Ont., won the high jump in a jump-off with K. O. Evans, Australia. After both cleared the bar at 5 feet, 11.34 inches, the Canadian finally won after repeated jumps with a mark of 5 feet, 8.34 inches. Jensen, Ontario and Canadian schoolboy high jump champion, was less than an inch short of his record leap on his first try. Sam Richardson, young colored lad from Toronto, better known as a broad jumper and holder of the British Empire title which he won at the London Games earlier in the year, was third.

LOSERS BROAD JUMP

The sudden runway of the jumping pits proved too much for young Richardson and he dropped the broad jump event to E. R. Letcher, of Victoria. Letcher deked.

Trick Boxing Gloves Are Taken From Maxie Rosenbloom

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP).—The New York State Athletic Commission turned thumbs down on the latest fight gadget today. The non-flick gloves, submitted by Maxie Rosenbloom for use in his light-heavyweight championship fight with Boo Olin, at Madison Square Garden, November 16, were thrown into the discard by the commission.

The trick mitten is so constructed that when laced the fist is completely closed, making it impossible for the wearer to hit with the open hand, an offense frequently charged to Rosenbloom.

"Box clean without any patents," the fistic fathers told him.

Montreal Winged Wheelers Have Great Chance to Lift Grid Title by Victory at Toronto—Possibility of Three Teams Being Tied

By ELMER DUMAQUE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

One year ago at this time Toronto Argonauts were ambitious outsiders in one of the most thrilling Big Four football races in years. They played the last scheduled game at Montreal and they had to win to get into a first-place tie.

Meanwhile Ottawa Roughriders entertained Hamilton Tigers and had only to win to also tie for the lead. Argos eventually came out on top of that scramble, beating Montreal to force a tie and then ousting the Wheelers in a two-game playoff series.

The poor Roughriders have been kicking themselves for twelve months because they bowed to Hamilton that day, losing a playoff berth.

That's how it was a year ago and it's just about the same layout for today. They've reached the last week of the schedule with Montreal leading Hamilton by a single point and the Tigers another single in front of Argos. Ottawa is out this time and the Bengals are in.

Montreal marches into Toronto, from all appearances the champions-to-be, just as in 1933.

WOULD MEAN TIE

An Argonaut victory would leave these two teams tied with seven points each. Then it would depend on the Tiger-Roughridger game. A Hamilton victory and a Montreal defeat would leave the Bengals in complete possession of the spoils.

But then the Roughriders have scoring for the winners, with Sparks running a close second.

With 19 points by Rita Weeks and 11 by "Buddy" Elston, the way was paved for the Unities' 38-8 victory over the Maroons in the first game.

The better equal, and their shooting was far superior to that of their opponents.

K. Miles garnered 6 of the 8 points secured by the Maroons, while G. Jones netted the other 2.

T. Macedo refereed and the teams follow:

Maroons—Z. Richards, E. Creed, J. Cosh, K. Miles (6), G. Jones (2), B. Stewart and B. Cosh. Total 8.

HELEN JACOBS IS RESTING UP

Former Queen of United States Tennis Courts Living Quietly in London

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP).—Helen Jacobs, queen of United States tennis courts for the last three years, has settled down in a cozy Kensington flat here for the winter, to do a little writing and, perhaps, put a little extra polish on her game.

The writing comes first. Later, when the back injury she suffered in practice at Forest Hills has healed completely, she intends to take some lessons from Dan Maskell, coach of England's championship Davis Cup team, and might even take a jaunt down to South Africa to play in the championships at Capetown.

She will not, at any rate, return to the United States until after the Wimbledon championships next summer. She loves London, says Helen, and has come over with every intention of getting her All.

Stock Prices at New York Mart Advance Briskly

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP).—A new wave of buying swept stocks upward at a brisk pace in the last hour of trading today. As the post-election advance was resumed, the market broadened materially. The day's volume increased to 1,228,590 shares, the largest in a month.

Many active issues were up 1 to 3 points at the close.

Chrysler, General Motors, Bohn Aluminum, Briggs Manufacturing, Motor Products, Electric Autolite, Borg Warner, Murray Corp. and Eaton Manufacturing scored net gains of about 1 to 3.

Steel shares turned strong on forecasts of an improved outlook. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and American Rolling Mill were active at advancing prices.

Rails joined the upswing with gains of a point or more.

In the Canadian section, C.P.R., Nickel, McIntyre and Distillers-Seargams were among the gainers. Moderate gains predominated in today's bond market. Portland General Electric 41-2s were up 23-4 at 52 1/2.

The foreign department was firm.

Many Golds Advance at Vancouver—Base Metals and Silvers Steady

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9 (CP).—

Prices were weak during the forenoon session on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, but steadied in afternoon trading, and gains were general at the close.

Bralorne and Pioneer Gold each advanced 15 to 15 1/2 and 12 1/2, respectively. Wayside gained 2 cents in heavy trading. Premier Gold was up 3, and Fairview Amalgamated was 2 cents higher. Reno lost 2 at 1 1/2 and United Empire was offered at 15, with no sales transacted. Sally Mines gained 5. Other issues were unchanged to fractions higher.

B.C. Nickel eased a cent at 50 in active trading, Golconda gained 3 and Pend Oreille was up 2 cents. Beaver Silver was up a cent and Porter Idaho firmed 1-2 point.

Royalite was weak and lost 25 at 14 1/2. McLeod Oil gained a cent and Calgary & Edmonton was off a point.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN SLIGHTLY

Winnipeg Market Unable to Follow Strong Upturn at Chicago

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9 (CP).—Continued lack of a broad export demand for Canada's wheat acted as a drag on Winnipeg Grain Exchange operations today. Strong upturns at Chicago failed to lift local wheat futures prices more than fractionally.

The close was 1-4 of a cent higher to unchanged, with December at 78 5/8, May 83 3/8 and July 84 1/4 to 84 3/8 cents.

Export sales of Canadian wheat totaled less than 250,000 bushels. Shipments from the Argentina this week were more than 4,000,000 bushels, more than double the quantity exported last week. Australia's movements also increased to 2,812,000 bushels.

Cash grains were dormant.

Coarse grains gained fractionally.

Virginia Vane Says:

SHOULD APOLOGIZE TO BOY FRIEND FOR RUDE BEHAVIOR

Dear Miss Vane: My boy friend and I have quarreled. After a six-months' friendship, during which time I grew to care for him deeply, a trivial difference grew to the proportions of a break-down fight. I told him I never wished to see him again, and he took me at my word. I have grown to regret my hastiness of that night, and would do anything to get him back. I am seventeen and he twenty-two.

The other night I met him at a party. He was in company with a mutual girl friend, and I was so wretched I couldn't stand it. I left the party and have since tried to forget him. I don't think he loves me as he did before our quarrel.

Can you help me? How shall I act when I meet him at a party?—H. R.

Have you written your young man an apology? If you haven't, it's high time you did. He is very likely thinking you have no manners whatever. In your note of apology, tell him that you are genuinely sorry you lost control of your temper, and that you hope he will overlook your rudeness. You must do this immediately, not so much with the idea of getting him back by this method as for the maintenance of your own self-respect. You cannot afford to let anyone think you are ill-bred. From your letter I know you are not, and it would be foolish indeed to have your good reputation spoiled through this incident.

You must be having a difficult time right now, but if this boy doesn't find enough love in his heart to renew the friendship after your apology, be assured that many other boys are going to fall in love with you. You are very young, and a hard knock such as this boy seems to be giving you may be just the necessary incentive for great self-improvement. One of the most unfortunate things a girl in her teens can have happen to her is to be too successful with her boy friends. When this happens the young lady either develops a self-satisfied smugness that makes her pretty unattractive when she gets a little older or she gets herself all caught up with the first boy she happens to like, and by the time she is in her twenties she has dug herself into a "nice little rut." In either case, she has never been forced to defend herself against a hard knock such as you are experiencing, and if one does happen along it takes on really serious proportions.

Don't get to thinking life is too terrible. Make this incident mean something to you, something constructive. If it only teaches you not to let go of your temper so quickly, that will be something. It will show you also that until you are married, too much dependence on one individual for your happiness leaves you at the mercy of this individual's moods, and is most uncertain.

It is going to take a great lot of courage for you to carry the day when you meet this boy in the future, but you've simply got to do it. Any young lady can become the hysterical weeping over a heartbreak, but the girls that turn the tables on their former boy friends are the ones that carry their heads high, and never admit for an instant that any man having had the bad taste to spurn their affections could get them down.

CONTENTED FAMILY MUST GET USED TO NEW FACES

Dear Virginia Vane: My father and mother and I have always been the closest of pals. Unlike any other family of my acquaintance, we have enjoyed each other's company, almost to the exclusion of any outsiders. Certainly no home could be filled with as much love and understanding as mine is.

Now, however, I am twenty-one, and have started to have dates, and up until recently the same relationship existed in my home, though my people never liked me to entertain at home. Perhaps one of the weaknesses of such a home life as we have enjoyed is that we forget how to entertain and enjoy other company besides our own. At any rate, I always feel that I am disrupting the perfect harmony of our home when I bring an outsider in for an evening.

I have fallen in love with one of the young men of the neighborhood, and it now becomes necessary that I entertain him sometimes. My father has objected strenuously to this young man. He says that he has seen him intoxicated, and in company with a fast lot of young men.

I feel terribly about the whole affair, as it would appear that I am spoiling the lives of my parents by seeing this boy. We do not spend many nights at home, so that my parents are not inconvenienced in this way. I love this boy dearly and do not want to give him up, but on the other hand, my father and mother mean more to me than they do to most girls. Can you suggest any way to meet this problem?—Only Daughter.

You must realize that you've got to break up this harmonious home life one of these fine days. As a matter of fact, I'm surprised you've reached twenty-one without having had to oppose your parents' wishes before this. It is unfortunate but true, that no matter how closely a family is allied together, time brings interests which must break it up. A little firmness on your part now is going to make the adjustment a little less cruel later on.

You have been wrong so far in that you have indulged your parents' wish to remain aloof from your friends, and encouraged them into thinking their little home circle could go along forever without having to bother with the rest of the world. It will be necessary that you have this friend of yours to the house just as often as you can. It may cause a lot of discord for a short time, but if this boy is worthy of your love, he is sure to fit into the domestic harmony of your home without causing too much unhappiness. The only way you are going to overcome the prejudice your father has against this young man is to acquaint him with the fine qualities in his character. The best way to do this is, of course, to bring them together as much as possible.

Have a serious talk with your people then, telling them that the break has got to come sometime, and that you are determined to start things moving right now. Ask for their co-operation, but whether or not they decide to go along with you on this new departure, you must go through with it, for your own happiness as well as theirs.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"TO HAVE A BEAM IN ONE'S EYE"

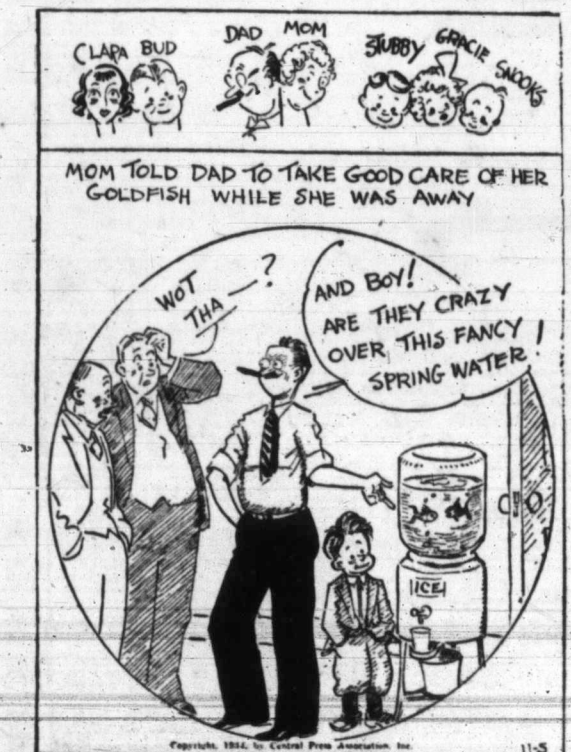

In every political campaign, it is quite usual for the stump speakers of one party to attack the candidates of their opponents, "quite un-mindful," as one commentator puts it, "of the beam in their own eye." This metaphorical observation of the penchant, among politicians, particularly, for ignoring their own faults while harping on those of others, is an allusion to what is considered by many one of the greatest addresses in the history of man—The Sermon on the Mount.

The expression appears in Matthew vii, verses 3 and 5: "And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?"

"Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."

PARIS PLANNING MONSTER LIDO

Great Amusement Concession for Exposition to Cost 95,000,000 Francs

PARIS (UP)—Paris is going to have a Coney Island. It is all decided for the 1937 Arts and Trades Exposition.

Some call it a "super-Lido," but the rose, by whatever name, will cost approximately 95,000,000 francs, and if they let the architect, M. Antoine Duffieux, have his way, Paris will be provided with all the facilities which its inhabitants pay dearly for and travel far to obtain—bathing, boating and gambling.

The French Coney Island will be set up at Choisy-le-Roi, a short distance to the south of the capital. It will comprise a magnificent bathing beach, 300 feet wide and nearly a mile long; a sports training ground, and a stadium to seat 100,000 spectators. There will be a dance hall and air field.

An even temperature of more than 68 degrees will be insured by means of a special heating apparatus during eight months of the year, in an open-air swimming pool. At one end of the beach will be a small lake, for boating, and in addition, it is planned to make a miniature sports ground, with a swimming pool for children.

For years, Paris has not had adequate bathing facilities—that is, swimming facilities—and the new Coney Island is destined to prove a mecca for marine-minded mammals. Automobiles, trains and special buses will convey visitors to and from the big playground.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

WHY INSULIN IS NECESSARY TO LIFE

When we were taught physiology at school we learned that the pancreas manufactured pancreatic juice which helped to digest proteins—meats and eggs, starches—potatoes, sugar, bread, and broke-up fats—cream, butter, fat meat. Most of us did not learn that the pancreas also manufactured a juice which aids the liver and muscles to store and to use sugar. This juice is now called insulin.

When the blood draws the sugar from the small intestine, where the food has undergone digestion by the digestive juices, it takes the sugar to the liver and by the help of the insulin the liver is able to store away this sugar or starch for future needs. Should there be a scarcity of starchy foods, or if we simply eat fruits and meats for a time, then the liver sends out some of this stored starch to keep the diet balanced and supply the necessary energy.

Now just as a shortage of juice from the thyroid gland in the neck can cause the individual to increase in weight and become sluggish physically and mentally, so can a shortage of insulin in the pancreas cause trouble.

When not enough insulin is being manufactured, then the liver and tissues cannot store sugar, and the sugar cannot be used by the body tissues.

It is in this condition—the pancreas not manufacturing enough insulin—that causes the ailment diabetes, so that the blood, not being able to leave the sugar in the liver or tissues, has to carry it around the body. Thus it is said the amount of sugar in the blood is too high in diabetes. When the blood reaches the kidneys, the kidneys hold as much of the sugar as they can, and the rest passes out in the urine. Thus, when sugar is found in the urine, it is usually, but not always, a sign of diabetes.

Too much sugar in the blood causes acidosis, because the sugar should burn, or help to burn, up fatty substances. If the fatty substances are not completely burned, acidosis, or a lessening of the normal alkaline condition of the blood and tissues occurs.

Acidosis interferes with the processes of the entire body—brain, nervous system, digestive system, heart and blood vessels. It is fortunate that insulin can now be obtained from animals and that diabetics can live on to old age.

TRYING FOR ARMISTICE IN WAR CAMPS

Worried Statesmen Working for Peace on Anniversary of Making Truce

BRITAIN REVERENTLY HONORS WAR DEAD

(By the Associated Press)
Urgent efforts to conclude new armistices harassed statesmen the world over, as survivors of the last Great War, today observed the sixteenth anniversary of the truce, which ended it.
Climaxing League of Nations attempts to halt the war between Bolivia and Paraguay, five nations of the Americas—Peru, Chile, Argentina, Venezuela and Mexico—formally addressed to the belligerents a plea for peace. But almost at the same moment renewed fighting was reported to have broken out in the Chaco.

In London the naval negotiators of three nations continued their struggle to reach an armistice forestalling the dangers of a competitive race for sea supremacy among the United States, Japan and Great Britain.

A KNOTTY PROBLEM

While League statesmen pondered the problem of patching up some kind of armistice between conflicting French and German troops in the Saar (which votes January 13 to remain under League sovereignty) return to Germany or become French property, new charges of Nazi secret police terrorists there were added to the League's worries.
In Paris, the new Government of Pierre Etienne Flandin was laboring to consolidate the precarious truce it established after the nine months' "truce" Government of Doumergue collapsed.

In Vienna, Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg likewise struggled to consolidate his Government on some basis capable of forestalling new armed conflicts between rival groups. But his efforts toward a political armistice were imperiled anew.

STATE INVOKES MARTIAL LAW

Arizona Mobilizing Troops to Prevent U.S. Gov't Damming Colorado River

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10 (AP).—Martial law was invoked suddenly today by Governor B. B. Moeur in an apparent attempt to stop the Federal Government and the metropolitan water district of California from building a diversion dam across the Colorado River.

Immediate preparations for mobilizing twenty machine gunners and forty infantrymen to augment a militia squad already on the scene, and to "repel the threatened invasion of the sovereignty and territory of the State of Arizona," were set in motion.
A declaration that Arizona's Governor might find himself in the position of using National Guard troops to "fight" the United States Government, was made by one water district official, who declined to allow the use of his name.

An intimation that the matter was beyond the pale of Arizona's authority was dropped in Washington by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, whose department has supervision of the big construction project.

"We have," said Ickes, "a fairly respectable legal opinion that the Federal Government has jurisdiction over navigable streams (the dangerous Colorado River has been held navigable in the area involved). Under this opinion it is believed the United States has the right to decide a question of the sort involved here."

Governor Moeur immediately telegraphed President Roosevelt outlining the action taken, and explaining his reasons. Adjutant-General Oscar Temple, of the National Guard, said it was the first time in Arizona history that martial law had been declared.

Lands in Jail in Spite Of Impressive Methods

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP).—Francis Cooke, sentenced here this week to six months in Okalla prison for false pretences in connection with promotion of a mythical trans-Canada air service, utilized the Legislative Buildings in Victoria and the navy yard at Esquimalt to impress investors in his scheme, complaints made to police here indicated.

Cenotaph Service Feature of Many Ceremonies Today

Lieutenant-Governor to Place Wreath on Memorial This Morning—Civic Service Will Be Held at Christ Church in Afternoon—Saanich Will Mark Remembrance Day

VICTORIANS—both young and old—will stand today bareheaded and in reverence for two minutes as the sixteenth anniversary of the Great War Armistice is observed. Special services will be conducted here during the day, the most important being the Remembrance Day ceremonies at the Parliament Square Cenotaph at 11 o'clock this morning.

Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by his aides, will place a wreath on the memorial, following the two minutes' silence.

This non-denominational service is being held under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, with a committee of naval and military bodies assisting. Government and municipal dignitaries, as well as church leaders, will place wreaths on the Cenotaph.

CHURCH SERVICE

A civic church service to mark Remembrance Day will be held at Christ Church Cathedral at 3 p.m., at which ministers of various churches in Victoria will take part, and each faith will join with the other in common tribute to those who fell for their country during the Great War.

Aside from these two features of Remembrance Day, many other activities have been arranged. Local churches will conduct special services in the morning, many starting at 10:45 or 10:55 o'clock. Saanich veterans will hold their ceremonies at 3 o'clock today at the Sidney War Memorial.

SAANICH MEETING

Under the North Saanich Branch of the Canadian Legion, the annual Armistice meeting will be held in the Orange Hall, Saanichton, at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. The Saanich Poppy Day committee in charge of arrangements consists of Rev. T. M. Hughes, of Sidney; J. J. Young, of Keating; M. Atkins, of Brentwood; E. Hicks, of James Island, and Nat Gray, of Saanichton.

NO PROSPECT OF AGREEING

Japanese Expect British to Yield on Naval Equality—Americans Doubtful

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP).—Diplomatic and naval circles continued pessimistic today over the outlook for agreement on a Naval Limitation Treaty despite the recent British efforts to bring about a compromise with Japan.

The Japanese are convinced that the British proposal goes only part way, because it offers equality only in principle. Next week they will reply to the British suggestions, inviting new proposals which would meet the Japanese demand for actual equality in tonnage.

OPINIONS DIVERGE

The Japanese have indicated their belief that the British will give in on the question of actual equality, but the American delegation appeared not so sure. The Americans were unable to see how the British could possibly discard their previous strong stand for the continuance of the existing ratio system.

The idea that Britain would put naval armaments on a trading basis for concessions from Japan in Manchukuo, as intimated in reports published abroad, was scouted by British officials. Trade matters have not been referred to in any way during the present discussions, it was stated.

The Americans have made it plain that, whatever the British do toward meeting the Japanese demand, the Americans will refuse to agree to any change in the principles of the Washington and London Treaties.

JUST THE OPPOSITE

The Americans point out that granting Japan equality in tonnage even if the Japanese agree not to build up to the equality level immediately, would be just opposite to the provisions of the present treaties, which limit the size of the fleets.

They made it quite clear to the British and the Japanese that the present ratio will be maintained regardless of whether there is a new treaty.

Should the British decline to offer a new plan recognizing Japanese equality, the Americans believed the Japanese would be forced to give in or walk out on the conversations.

Further meetings have been postponed until after the Japanese reply to the British proposal.

As he reached the Toyland floor, he heard a sibilant "Sh-sh" in the darkness. For safety's sake, he stayed very quiet until officers arrived. A vain search was made; then a policeman tried a ruse.

"Come out of there!" he ordered. "All right, sir," trembled a small voice and, in the beam of his flashlight, the officer picked out a tiny, frightened lad whose head came hardly higher than his captor's

Woman Refuses to Be Held Up—Bank Officials Are Less Insistent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10 (AP).—One man was shot in the leg, bullets flew about the street, and a bank robber got the surprise of his life when a woman customer slapped his face today in the hold-up of an American Trust Company branch bank.

The three robbers grabbed $500 and escaped. Douglas B. Odell, branch manager, rushed to the window as the trio fled, hoping to get the licence number of the car, and the fleeing men opened fire. One bullet ricocheted from the bank wall and struck John P. Brennan, a laundry wagon driver, who was crossing the street on foot, in the left leg.

The slapping interlude came early in the hold-up as the trio swept in and covered with revolvers Odell, assistant manager; C. M. James, of Oakland, and Miss Patricia Squire, stenographer.

The woman customer, whose name was not learned, rushed the nearest robber, exclaiming, "I won't be held up by anyone!" slapped his face, and fled out of the bank, leaving all three so astonished they did not fire after her.

NEW STATE IS GIVEN START BY MUSSOLINI

Claims System Will Lead to Repudiation of Old Political Methods

AIM TO AUGMENT POWER OF NATION

ROME, Nov. 10 (AP). — Benito Mussolini told the world to look and learn today, as he launched his new corporative state. A revolutionary Fascist approach to Italy's economic problems, the new system, Il Duce predicted, will lead to world-wide repudiation of old political methods.

Seven hundred and thirty-nine representatives of capital, labor and the Fascist party gathered in Julius Caesar Hall, thundered an ovation as the leader declared the new institution another victory of the "principles which, since distant 1919, have led toward the future triumphant revolution of the Black Shirts."

CHANCE TO EXPERIMENT

Mussolini likewise saw in the new state—which gives industry and commerce, organized into twenty-two corporations, an opportunity to experiment in "self-administration," something Italy may find useful if war comes again.

"The state," he said, "should be affirmed, he told his select audience, 'because it is only on international ground that races and nations will be measured when Europe, in time, despite our firm and most sincere desire for collaboration and peace, shall again have arrived at another crossroads in her destiny.' He said the corporative state's purpose is 'ceaselessly to augment the global power of the nation and further its expansion on earth.'"

AT HEAD OF EACH

Each of the twenty-two corporations will represent one division in Italy's commercial and industrial life, and each will be headed by Il Duce himself. A governing board will be set over each, and members of these boards were among those who heard the leader sound the death knell of parliamentary government.

FOOTBALL STAR MADE SENATOR

Huey Long Proclaims Abe Mickal Member of Louisiana Legislature

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 10 (AP).—Abe Mickal, Louisiana State University football star, was "State Senator" Mickal tonight, "eligible" by Senator Huey P. Long's decree to sit in the Louisiana Legislature's special session which Long is convening to pass "debt postponement" and other "poor man" legislation.

And Long said that, "if he had anything to do with it," Abe "would sit."

Mickal, who sat recovering from an injury on the sidelines today while Louisiana State was defeating George Washington University, 6-0, in the nation's capital, was proclaimed "State Senator from East Baton Rouge parish" by an assembly of fellow-students that the "Kingfish" declared was a "citizens' mass meeting."

Unusual Heart Operation Performed by Surgeons

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10 (AP).—An operation to prevent a woman's heart from literally becoming encased in stone was disclosed by surgeons at the Mount Zion Hospital here today.

The membrane surrounding the heart of the woman, the physicians said, was slowly becoming impregnated with calcium carbonate and calcium phosphate, a principle constituent of bone. Diet and hormone treatment gave no relief, physicians said, and finally it was decided that only an operation could have the life of the patient—a mother of four children.

A preliminary operation as performed in 1933 when three ribs were removed so that the heart could be reached.

The final operation was performed yesterday when the heart sack was exposed and ossified membrane chipped away.

Physicians said she has a good chance to recover.
